WINDY SCENE AT WINNIPEG INQUIRY

Saanich Plans New Relief Currency Judge of Appeal Court Verbally Assails Stubbs As Commissioner Listens

Workmen May Be Paid In Municipal Bills Worth $2.79

Stores and Banks of Victoria Expected to Accept Issue

Saanich First to Propose Circulating Notes Outside Own Limits

Saanich may issue special currency with which to pay direct relief. Proposals that all workmen given assistance be paid in a uniform scrip, bearing a face value of $2.79 for each note, were yesterday evening before the Saanich Council and were referred to the finance committee for report.

The proposed currency will take the form of numbered notes of the municipality, bearing on their face a promise to pay the bearer in lawful money upon presentation at the Municipal Hall at Royal Oak. The striking difference between this issue and the famous "wooden money" of Tenino, Wash., will be the fact that the merchants of Victoria will be expected to accept the currency at its face value throughout the year. Tenino only expected merchants doing business within the city to accept the fiat money, and that obligation was only in effect for the brief period of a civic celebration.

The Saanich currency of $2.79 bills, if finally approved, will be based on the fact that the municipality pays a daily relief scale of $2.79. One day's work will therefore entitle residents to one bill. The average period of work allowed Saanich married men is three days each week.

The council was assured that the new currency would greatly simplify accounts in connection with distribution of relief. In December last the cost of bank cheques amounted to more than $25,000, and the great amount of clerical work involved.

Further, the bank required protection of the account by maintenance of a credit balance in the municipal current account. In view of the debit balance caused by shortage in tax collection it was necessary to deposit interest-bearing notes, and the bank overdraft of $20,000 had to be financed on a 6 per cent basis.

Should the new currency be placed in circulation by the council it is expected that large sums in interest will be obtained. Saanich is now paying out about $8,000 each month in relief. Two-thirds of that sum is recoverable after an interval of months, from the provincial and federal governments, but in the meantime Saanich has to pay bank interest on the total gross cost of relief.

Each of the new currency bills will require a receipt endorsement before it will become valid, but it is the expectation of Saanich that the system will be found proof against attack in the courts, either by the banks or the Dominion Government.

It is the expectation of Saanich that, if an issue of municipal notes is undertaken, the full co-operation of the merchants and banks of Victoria will be given the municipality. When the scheme was outlined yesterday evening many members of the (Turn to Page 2, Col. 8)

New Factory To Be Constructed Here

Canadian Diatomite Ltd. to Begin Work on Industrial Reserve Monday Morning

Diatomaceous Earth to Be Brought Here From Quesnel and Converted Into Construction Material

Construction of factory buildings for the new plant here of the Canadian Diatomite Ltd. will start Monday morning, it was learned today.

The erection of the factory buildings follows the leasing by the provincial government to the company of a waterfront site on the Songhees Industrial Reserve, adjacent to the Point Ellice Bridge and the upper harbor ferry docks of the Canadian National Railway.

The company is financed by private capital here and has maintained a private laboratory for experimental purposes here for four years for the development of diatomaceous products. The raw material, diatomaceous earth, will be brought to Victoria from the large diatomite deposit which the company leases a few miles out of Quesnel.

At the factory here, the raw material will be worked into the various forms of heat insulation products for which (Turn to Page 2, Col. 8)

EFFORTS TO RESCUE SCHOONER'S CREW

Eureka, Cal., Jan. 20.—A ground-a mile south of Humboldt Bar, the lumber schooner Tiverton, with a crew of nineteen men aboard, was lashed by a heavy sea to-day as coast guardsmen attempted to render aid.

Distress signals sent out by the craft, a 136-ton wooden vessel owned by the Christensen-Hammond line, were seen shortly after midnight by the Eureka coastguard station and rescue efforts were started immediately.

The Tiverton, commanded by Captain Ahlin, left San Francisco Wednesday for Eureka.

WOMAN SAVES TWO YOUTHS

Mrs. Lloyd Hutchinson Went to Aid of K. Reid and Companion in Glen Lake

Youths, Thrown Into Water as Canoe Overturned, Prevented Reaching Shore By Ice

To Mrs. Lloyd Hutchinson of Glen Lake, who rescued them when they were at the point of exhaustion after their canoe had overturned, Kenneth Reid of Vancouver and a companion owe their lives.

The near tragedy happened at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning when Reid and his friend were paddling across Glen Lake to catch the boatman on the Lutton side. The canoe unaccountably overturned and filled, and as it was impossible to right and empty the craft the two men struck out for shore some distance away.

As they neared shore they found to their consternation that it was fringed with ice twenty feet out, which effectively prevented them from swimming to safety. Numbly by the icy water they shouted and their cries were heard by Mrs. Hutchinson, who lives near by. She ran to the edge of the lake, losing one of her shoes in her hurry, but not stopping to recover it. Jumping into her rowboat she pushed off, breaking the ice with the oars as she rowed, and with some difficulty cleared a channel.

Reaching the men struggling in the water at the edge of the ice rim, Mrs. Hutchinson, who is of athletic build, hauled them into the boat and rowed back to shore.

Reid collapsed as he tumbled into the bottom of the boat, and his companion was almost exhausted.

Mrs. Hutchinson took them into her home by the lake, where they soon recovered from their experience in the icy water. They took the rowboat, recovered their canoe, and returned to the cottage on the other side of the lake.

Mr. Reid is the son of the late Frank Reid and Mrs. Reid of Vancouver. The cottage where they have been living is owned by the Reids.

DEPORTATIONS PROTESTED

United Farmers of Alberta Call For Trials Where Arrests Are Made

Agrarians Object to Removals Such as Recently Seen at Halifax

Canadian Press

Calgary, Jan. 20.—Protest against arrests for deportation, with hearings at points far removed from the place of arrest, was registered by the annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta here today.

With the recent arrest and deportation of alleged communists after hearings in Halifax cited, the delegates accepted a resolution which asked amendments to the Immigration Act which would prevent arrest and detention for deportation of any person "upon mere suspicion or statement of one person."

As another amendment to the act it asked that "in case of an inquiry into the conduct of any person, such inquiry shall be held in his or her own district."

PULLED OUT OF BED

H. G. Young of Millet declared men had been "hauled out of bed and rushed to Halifax for a deportation hearing." Such procedure was improper and should not be allowed, he declared. Everyone who was arrested for deportation should be given the opportunity of defending himself within his own judicial area.

Council To Vote On Increase In Scale of Relief

Committee Proposes $30 Maximum For Family of Four to Replace Jones Scale of $24.50; Would Give More Shelter Allowance

CITY TO BEAR EXTRA CHARGE

Believing the investigation of relief by the Provincial Government's officer will justify the city's claim for scale of allowances higher than the Jones schedule, the relief committee of the City Council has taken immediate action to relieve distress now evident through the reduction in the scale.

In a recommendation drafted for presentation to the council this afternoon the committee proposes an increase in the scale from $24.50 to $30.00 maximum for a family of two adults and two dependents.

This scale includes a shelter allowance of $5.50, and would be made effective from January 1 to prevent a number of threatened evictions.

Unless the government accedes to the city's application for an increase in the scale as far as Victoria is concerned, the new allowance will mean that the extra cost would fall directly upon the city. Calculated on an average of 900 families receiving relief this would mean an extra charge of $36,000 for the year over the 1932 scale, or about $70,000 more than under the Jones scale.

DIVISION OF SCALE

In addition to provincial shelter allowance believed sufficient to prevent evictions, the new scale would also increase the food allowance for families. The $30 maximum would be divided on the following basis: Man and wife $15, (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

Mr. Justice W. H. Trueman at Winnipeg Inquiry Says Judge Stubbs's Remarks About Him "Characteristic of a Rotten, Infamous Man"

Surprise After Spirited Argument

Clash Is Outgrowth of Judicial Handling of Officers' Shooting Affray at Winnipeg Barracks

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Jan. 20.—Walking into the quiet courtroom where the federal investigation was being conducted into charges of judicial misconduct against County Judge L. St. G. Stubbs, Mr. Justice W. H. Trueman, of the Manitoba Court of Appeal, created a sensation at noon to-day in an indignant attack on the accused jurist.

The judge strode into the room almost unnoticed until he interrupted the evidence of the witnesses and told Mr. Justice Frank Ford of the Supreme Court of Alberta, federal commissioner, he wished to deny a statement made by the accused.

Referring to Judge Stubbs's announcement that he intended to move for impeachment of him for "gross interference in the administration of justice" in connection with a shooting affray between two army officers at the Tuxedo Barracks here, Mr. Justice Trueman branded Judge Stubbs's charge "as an absolute falsehood" and described it as "a rotten act characteristic of a rotten, infamous man."

"It is an unseemly, wretched statement," he declared as he glared at the witness, standing slightly in the witness box holding a bundle of papers in his hand.

DECLINES TO TESTIFY

"Mr. Justice Trueman declined an invitation to testify at the hearing regarding this charge. 'It is not necessary for me to do that,' he said, 'Everybody will believe me.'"

Mr. Justice Trueman expressed the hope the newspapers would not publish it.

The accused judge himself interrupted and suggested that if his references had not already been published they should be struck from the record. Judge Stubbs said he would issue a "public statement."

Turning to Mr. Justice Trueman, Commissioner Ford assured him the references by the judge would not have been allowed had he known what they were.

"I trust the witness will not be permitted to make any further reference to the matter," said Mr. Justice Trueman as he bowed his thanks to the chairman and left the court.

The commissioner told Judge Stubbs he had no power to order the newspapers not to publish the facts, and said he could do was rule them from the record and ask the witness not to mention the matter again.

Captain of Ss. Exeter City, Third Officer and Two Sailors Lose Lives in Atlantic

Ship, Thirty Years Old, Sends SOS Call While Battling Huge Seas

New York, Jan. 20.—The British freighter Exeter City battled heavy Atlantic seas to-day in a storm that had cost the lives of her master and third officer and two members of the crew, damaged her considerably and caused her to flash an S.O.S. call in the early dawn.

The loss of life was reported in a message to his owners by Captain Giles C. Stedman, master of the liner American Merchant, which reached the stricken freighter after a dash of fifteen miles that, because of the weather, required three hours.

Capt. Stedman's message said: "Bridge, chartroom, fore part of bridge deck and saloon accommodations carried away. Master, third officer, apprentice and seaman lost. No. 2 hatch stove in. Water also believed in No. 3 hatch. Rigged up emergency steering gear."

Gives Notice of No Confidence Motion as South African Government Session Opens

Capetown, South Africa, Jan. 20.—A critical session of the South African Parliament which may see the government resign forthwith, after defeating opened this morning.

The Speech from the Throne, read by the Earl of Clarendon, Governor-General, announced the government would submit proposals deemed necessary to deal with the new currency situation. (The South African pound has been dropping lower and lower since the government was forced off the gold standard a few weeks ago.)

General Jan C. Smuts, leader of the South African Party, gave notice he would move on Tuesday a motion that the government resign forthwith, affording the opportunity for the formation of a national government.

The serious economic conditions in the country, he believed, called for immediate action.

COUNCIL SWORN LIVELY SCENE AT WINNIPEG INQUIRY

JUDGE SMILES
The court then adjourned for lunch and Judge Stubbs, apparently unimpressed by the attack on him, descended from the box to his waiting pale-faced wife, who expressed her horror at the names her husband had been called.

"Oh that's nothing," the judge said lightly. "Keep cool." He smiled at his wife and they walked from the courtroom together.

When this morning's sitting of the commission began, Judge Stubbs had run away from the box to his waiting pale-faced wife, who expressed her horror at the names her husband had been called.

He charged Mr. Justice C. P. Fullerton "had taken the bit in his teeth and peeled" during the preparation of the seventeen-page complaint that he (Judge Stubbs) has so bitterly attacked all during the hearing.

He was charged with "deplorable conduct" and being "over-judicial" in the complaint sent by the court of Appeal judges to the Minister of Justice and which Judge Stubbs described as a "freak document which on its face would be a disgrace to a first-year law student."

ALL ARGUE
The judge said he would move to impeach Mr. Justice Fullerton as a result of the recent shooting affair at the Tuxedo Barracks here in which Capt. R. H. Bebbitt and Capt. C. G. Brown were involved "in the eternal triangle."

Mr. Justice Ford, Judge Stubbs and Arthur Sullivan, K.C., commission counsel, all became involved in an argument over reference to this case.

Commissioner contended a court martial was to be held here January 24 and suggested discussion on the matter should "not be broadcast at the present time."

The commissioner contended he was inquiring only into the propriety of Judge Stubbs' remarks and asked the witness before he gave a decision if "you really, seriously think I ought to allow this." The judge stubbornly persisted it ought to be allowed as proof of his contention there was a law for the rich and another for the poor and as an example "of gross interference by a judge with the administration of justice."

The commissioner, however, held it not evidence and ruled it from the interview ever has taken place. Charges the judge had given inaccurate evidence in regard to the MacDonald case were directed to the commission. In denials of three judges of the Appeal Court, letters from the three were read to the commission after argument between counsel chairman and witness.

Chief Justice Prendergast denied the interview ever has taken place, while the other two letters denied the truth of the statement Mr. Justice Donovan had been advised in the matter. The three judges offered to take the witness stand, if necessary, to support their denials.

Calgary Is Offered Exchange Sum Bank's Plan Is Laid Before Council By Mayor For Decision

So Far Aldermen Have Flatly Refused to Pay $300,000 Exchange in New York

Calgary, Jan. 20.—The Bank of Montreal has agreed to loan Calgary the $300,000 necessary to meet the United States exchange rates on $2,135,000 in debentures which matured at New York January 1. Mayor Andy Davison received a letter to-day to this effect from the bank's head office in Montreal, and he will place it before the city council for its decision.

The letter said the bank was willing "to loan the city the amount necessary to meet exchange costs, taking one-year 5% per cent treasury bills repayable 50 per cent by the end of 1933, the balance to be renewable for a further year."

Another stipulation in the offer was the bank's statement the city should be given "no specified protection on default of treasury bills for waterworks bonds" against which the city borrowed $2,000,000.

STEADFASTLY OPPOSED
How the council will meet the offer is doubtful. Mayor Davison and the council have consistently refused to pay for the debentures, maturing in New York, in other than Canadian funds. This stand resulted in the bank cutting off the city's credit.

Mayor Davison said he had no reason to believe the council would alter its stand. The new offer, it is understood, resulted from conversations between Brownlee of Alberta held with bank officials while he was attending the premiers' conference in Ottawa. Mr. Brownlee had promised Mayor Davison to place Calgary's case before officials of the financial institution.

FOR OPERATIONS
The bank's willingness to loan money for payment of the exchange has made no alteration in credit negotiations. Calgary is seeking credit from the bank to finance civic operations, but no agreement has been reached. The deadlock is caused by the city being unable to agree to the bank's stipulation there be no specified protection on default of the selling of unsold waterworks debentures which the bank asks the city to hand over before credit is extended in cost.

According to Ottawa reports, Premier Brownlee again will intercede for the city when he meets bank heads in Montreal to-morrow in an attempt to re-establish Calgary's line of credit.

ANOTHER REQUEST
Calgary will ask the Alberta Government immediately to relieve the city of paying 10 per cent of the total cost of old-age pension payments. Davison said he would attempt to have the provincial administration take over the burden which was becoming too great for Calgary.

According to the mayor the city is faced with paying to the Alberta Government $11,844,400, Calgary's share of old-age pensions paid in the last year. The amount he would attempt to have the provincial administration take over the burden which was becoming too great for Calgary.

Under the scheme, the Dominion Government pays 50 per cent of the pensions, the province 40 and the city the remaining 10 per cent. May last year, however, the Dominion authorities decided to meet 75 per cent of the cost and Mayor Davison immediately asked the Alberta Government to take over the balance.

Premier Brownlee, however, informed Mayor Davison the plan could not be altered until the Alberta Legislature session in 1933.

mobiles. Many settlers are using the engines from their cars to run their wood-cutting plants.

After delegates from all parts of the province had confirmed the reports of automobiles being converted into wagons, the board passed a resolution asking for a flat rate of $10 for automobile licenses and lower gasoline prices.

The board approved Hon. N. S. Loughheed's proposal for placing on land a very restriction of number of families with farming experience, but strongly objected to any intensive scheme for assisted colonization with public funds.

A protest against high rates of interest charged farmers, and a demand that rates be reduced to assist in restoring confidence will be forwarded to the Dominion government and the British Columbia members of the House of Commons.

KEEP DOWN COSTS
The government will be advised to refuse compensation for cattle slaughtered because of tuberculosis where the stock was brought into British Columbia from other provinces without a clean bill of health.

The board refused approval of a proposal that farmers be compensated for loss of products, such as milk, caused by imposition of quarantine regulations. Rejection was due to conviction that more social legislation involving added expense to the public treasury would be of no benefit.

The provincial government will be asked to change the relief regulations to permit distressed farmers to work the land. It was realized that the problem would be difficult because three authorities shared the cost of relief.

Another cause of complaint was the requirement that farm owners must swear to destination before being eligible for assistance. The board considered that the need of relief was a temporary condition, and farmers objected to having to take the affidavit required.

tives should also be sent to discuss ways and means for improving the world situation.

It was settled that these arrangements will be taken up by the Secretary of State with the British Government.

ATTITUDE OF FRANCE
In diplomatic quarters, note was taken immediately that the statement referred to Great Britain alone. At the very time it was issued, criticism of the French default on payment of the December 15 debt instalment to the United States was being sounded.

Senator Robinson, Indiana, Republican, had set it off with a scathing speech, in which he termed France a "thorough ingrate." He was joined by senators prominent in both parties.

two children $7, $2.50 and shelter $3.50. This compares with the Jones scale of $12.50 for man and wife, $5 for children for food and 40 per cent of this, or $7 for shelter and fuel.

The committee's recommendation refers to the request for an investigation of Victoria's relief situation and points out: "This request was granted and in view of the fact that the investigation has now been made, and believing that the government will find from the report of the investigator that increased allowances are necessary, your committee is of the opinion that while awaiting the decision of the provincial government and realizing the distress of the unemployed is real and acute, an immediate increase should be made in the scale of relief allowances and recommendations the new scale."

INCREASE PER FAMILY
In detailing the proposed scale the committee points out the average monthly payment per family will work out at about $28.00 as compared with $22.50 under the Jones scale. The new schedule would thus cost the city approximately $3.35 more per family per month than the average cost for the last six months of 1932.

"Your committee is convinced that the allowances at present in operation are insufficient to make adequate provision for the requirements of a family," the report states.

Shifts Are Made In New Zealand Cabinet
Premier Coates Makes Changes Following Resignation of Downie Stewart, Opponent of Currency Inflation

Wellington, N.Z., Jan. 20.—The further measure of inflation the government had been considering since yesterday led to-day to reorganization of the cabinet. Premier G. W. Forster announced various transfers of portfolios, following acceptance of the resignation of Finance Minister W. Downie Stewart, who was opposed to the inflation step by which New Zealand currency is placed on a level of 12s. 6d. to the £100 British pounds.

Mr. H. J. G. Coates, former Prime Minister, is giving up his portfolios, transport, public work and unemployment, and is taking over the office of the Minister of Finance. The Prime Minister is adding to his portfolio the office of Attorney-General.

Hon. Adam Hamilton, Postmaster-General, becomes Minister of Education, and Hon. J. A. Young, Minister of Health and Immigration, becomes Minister of Internal Affairs.

No new appointments will be made in the cabinet until after the next session, which will open January 26. It is expected legislation will be introduced to indemnify the banks from possible loss on the sale of exchange purchased at the figure set yesterday.

CONVERSION LOAN FOR DEBT URGED

Canadian Press
New Westminster, Jan. 20.—A resolution urging the Dominion Government to authorize a conversion loan on a 3 per cent basis, to take care of all federal, provincial and municipal debt was passed unanimously at a meeting of the Edmonton and East Burnaby Branch of the Liberal Association.

The proposal for the resolution sets forth the financial structure of Canada is being gradually undermined by extortionate interest rates and fixed charges on municipal, provincial and federal corporations.

It urges the loan be on a patriotic basis, and that if patriotism will not reach the heart of the situation, a levy be made on outstanding higher interest bearing bonds that will bring their yield to the same basis as the conversion loan.

Western Premiers Stay In Ottawa To Talk Over Relief

At Close of Provincial-Dominion Conference Leaders and Committees Carry On

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—Although the Dominion-provincial conference was officially concluded late yesterday evening, the majority of the delegates remained in Ottawa to-day for further discussions among themselves and with various departments of the government.

The conference proper is concluded, one delegate said, "but the work of the committees will go on."

It was understood certain data will be prepared for the next conference, particularly on those subjects not conclusively dealt with at the conference, and that members of the committees would stay on in Ottawa for an extra day to put this work as far ahead as possible before they separated. Further negotiations will be carried on by correspondence.

Western premiers met with Premier Bennett to-day and discussed relief work and it was understood they sought greater contributions from the federal government.

Definite progress toward solution of some of the outstanding problems affecting the relations of the provinces of Canada to the Dominion government was made at the inter-provincial conference, it was stated to-day.

Farm Strike Plan In Alberta Voted Down

United Farmers Want National Wheat Board to Control Production and Marketing

Canadian Press
Calgary, Jan. 20.—Rejecting a farm strike proposal, the annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta at noon to-day voted creation of a national wheat board to control production and marketing and guarantee production costs to the farmers. Operation of the board for the 1933 crop is included in the request.

Closely linked in solution of farm problems since last November, the farm strike proposal asked the executive of the United Farmers of Alberta to institute a strike April 1, 1933, unless a guarantee was made by the federal and provincial governments the farmers would be assured cost of production of domestic wheat and grain.

The farmers would have produced only sufficient to meet their own needs. Classified by a dozen delegates as "far from silly," the strike proposal, which originated in the Rumsey district, was given some support as a measure bringing to attention of government authorities the plight of western agriculture. Deemed impracticable and offering too many advantages to agriculture in foreign countries, the majority voted it down.

Efforts to eliminate control of production and marketing and cancel the guarantee of cost of production in the marketing board resolution were defeated and the original motion was accepted. The resolution called for a decline in value of agricultural products below the cost of production, and the consequent threat of destroying the industry.

Immediate functioning of the board was sought so full benefit could be derived from the 1933 operations. Inclusion of the farmers' own labor as a reasonable factor in cost of production was voted.

LOWER RAIL RATES
Other resolutions passed during the session urged reduction of all live-stock rates, at present levied by Canadian Railways, and reduction of the domestic rates on fruits and grains for domestic consumption in an effort to facilitate the exchange of commodities between the prairies and British Columbia points.

was reported at Nanaimo. There was a possibility, Mr. Denison said, that it might extend to the Straits of Juan de Fuca and the Gulf of Georgia.

KEEPS MERCURY UP
The disturbing influence of the high wind had served to keep temperatures up in Victoria and indicated any precipitation would be in the form of rain rather than snow. In California the storm king held sway with winds and rains in the lower levels and snow in the higher altitudes. Reports from Vancouver stated snow started to fall there shortly before last midnight. At daybreak snow showers and scrapers, hung up last fall, were again in use.

HERTZOG GIVEN SUPPORT VOTE

Canadian Press
Capetown, South Africa, Jan. 20.—Prospect of an early defeat for the Hertzog Government faded yesterday evening when a Nationalist Party caucus with only three absentees pledged loyalty to the Premier. The stand of the caucus was taken as an indication the government will be able to carry on through the session of the House of Assembly which opened to-day.

Meanwhile Tielman Roos, retired Supreme Court judge, decided to continue his efforts to drum up opposition against the government and said he would carry his crusade first into the Transvaal.

The present system of unemployment relief will continue unchanged, with the Dominion government making the same contributions to the provinces as formerly, it was decided. On a few points it was urged Dominion and provincial relief officials get together with a view to improvement.

Drafting of a uniform set of regulations to govern relief distribution was suggested.

CONSIDER JOBLESS YOUTH
Extension of the system to permit of expenditures for medical attention of persons receiving direct relief was another step decided on. Relief officials will also try to work out some way of meeting the problem of the youths leaving school and college at a time when no jobs are open to them.

Drafting of a uniform Companies Act will be one of the concrete and immediate results of the conference. It was agreed Premier Bennett should at an early date call Dominion and provincial law officers together for the purpose of drafting a law which may be enacted by the federal Parliament and all the provincial Legislatures.

The present situation has been found unsatisfactory because of the varying laws in the different provinces and the Dominion.

It was suggested, however, that the rookies shortly would be available for garrisons in quiet sectors, releasing the veterans for duty in the "trouble sectors."

The present command of General Muto, Japan's supreme military chief in Manchuria, was estimated at 40,000 soldiers.

Tokio, Jan. 20.—Dispersing of Chinese bands on the southeastern border of Jehol was reported completed to-day as three Japanese forces joined together for a push into that Chinese province. A War Office spokesman said the Japanese army intended to occupy Jehol, northern gateway to the ancient capital of Peiping, before summer. Similar preliminary movements, however, might be expected to continue for some weeks, it was said.

General Kuniaki Doiso, chief of staff of the Japanese Manchurian army, forces a long campaign and predicted it would take two or three years and 80,000 Japanese soldiers to suppress "banditry" in Jehol.

Japanese forces which converged to-day at Chihni, newly disclosed concentration point. The land forces, mostly cavalry, were from Shanhaikwan.

A cavalry regiment from Chienchow and infantry detachments from Lian-shan moved westward to the border to join a reserve brigade which "mopped up" the border in a northward advance from Shanhaikwan.

It met with opposition at Chienchow, where it left the Great Wall of China, and at Yungkuang, both of which were occupied last week. Japanese bombing planes attacked those towns to clear the way for the cavalry. Native Manchurian troops, stationed at both points as garrisons, were holding those towns to-day.

Tientsin, Jan. 20.—Japanese sources to-day said British diplomats were attempting to mediate in the crisis in north China, suggesting China consent to an amicable settlement of the problem in Jehol province and that the Japanese agree to withdraw from Shanhaikwan and not to advance against Peiping.

Confirmation of these reports was not to be obtained here.

diamonaceous earth is used. These include insulation for refrigerators and fire-proofing and building boards to go in walls to keep in heat and keep out cold and noises.

The laboratory here, it was explained, has also developed diamonaceous blocks to be used instead of bricks and lumber in buildings. It is claimed the diamonaceous blocks are more durable, lighter and more adaptable than lumber, bricks and cement, which are at present the basic building materials for houses. With the steel frame house now coming into vogue and the new style of architecture, the diamonaceous materials to be produced here will be largely used to form the body of the building over the skeleton steel frames, it was explained.

The building of the factory and wharf here is to be done by contract under the company's own direction, it was stated to-day.

council acclaimed the idea as a fine way to reduce interest charges and a practical way to reduce bookkeeping expenses. Councillor W. F. Somers insisted that the proposal be referred to the finance committee for examination and report before any members of the council placed themselves on record. "If this matter is brought to a vote now I will oppose it," he said.

Councillor L. C. Hagan thought the idea excellent but agreed that more study was essential. He seconded reference to the finance committee, after commenting "This really means that Saanich will be making money." Councillor H. D. Coates supplemented: "Maybe, but if the people fear it is no good they will be able to pay their taxes with it."

The motion requiring further study was adopted as Councillor Hagan commented, "We do not want a snap vote."

MAYOR TO GET LIBRARY NOTE

Saanich Council Displeased
With Commission's Attitude;
Review Asked

Mayor Leeming will be supplied by Saanich with a copy of a letter from the Victoria Library Commission, which the Saanich Council termed "A slap in the face; most autocratic" and "not courteous."

The letter notified Saanich that only council members could negotiate concerning resumption of library service, that financial terms would not be varied from those in effect in 1931 and that no consideration would be accorded any request by Saanich for service to individuals willing to pay for privileges.

The library board will be requested to reconsider its attitude.

APPLE BAR DISCUSSED

British May Ban Importation of Fruit From Canada,
B.C. Learns

Vernon, Jan. 20.—The prospect of a British embargo being placed on all Canadian apples because of the existence in eastern Canada of apple maggot is announced.

According to a letter to R. H. MacDonald, president of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association from H. E. Kendall, president of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association, the chief advisory entomological officer of the Ministry of Agriculture in Great Britain, paid a visit to eastern Canada and stated at that time it was quite probable new regulations would be brought into effect to control importation of fruit from North America. This was necessary, he said, because of the fact that two shipments of Ontario apples to the Old Country had been discovered to be infested with apple maggot.

"I do not think it is too much to say the whole export apple trade of Canada so far as the British market is concerned," Colonel Innes, deputy minister of agriculture of Nova Scotia, writes.

In order to protect the Canadian apple export trade an international conference is to be held on February 17 and 18 at Ottawa.

URGES INCREASED LAND SETTLEMENT

Montreal, Jan. 20.—The small farmer, working a quarter-section in northern Saskatchewan, was in a prosperous condition and quite as prepared to weather out the depression as anyone else, stated R. B. Horner of Blaine Lake, Sask., in an interview yesterday. He came to Montreal to attend a directors' meeting of the Canadian National Railway.

"There are hundreds of small farmers—and I believe it to be the general rule—who have lived successfully on their 160 to 320 acres and are in a very enviable position to-day," he said.

"I cannot see the objection to bringing people out to the prairie provinces on the grounds that they are taking the bread out of the farmers' mouths."

"Northern Saskatchewan could support a million more people easily and I would like to see an engagement made between the British Government and the Canadian Government whereby those on the dole in England to-day might be brought out here, given land, and the dole continued to them until they had established themselves. Canada's population is ever growing. Some day we are going to need more wheat. Some day again we are going to sell more wheat, and the rehabilitation in Canada of people England is too crowded to hold would be in my opinion a benefit to both countries," Mr. Horner said.

STUDENTS HEAR OF CONFERENCE

International Relations
Society Told of Seattle
Meeting Results

Enthusiastic accounts of the annual Pacific Northwest conference of International Relations Clubs held recently at the University of Washington at Seattle were given at the meeting of the International Relations Society held Wednesday evening at Victoria College, by members of the Victoria delegation including Russell Twining, Jack Maloney and Donald Brewster.

Francis Joubin, president, occupied the chair and at the conclusion of the address conducted an informal discussion.

Mr. Brewster gave a resume of speeches presented at the conference by Professors Fletcher Brockman of the University of Washington, Frederick J. Starr of the University of Chicago, and Chester Rowell of the San Francisco Chronicle. The Far Eastern situation in China, Japan and Manchukuo and the Lytton Report were briefly reviewed by Mr. Brewster.

"The situation in the Far East is a most serious and delicate one," said Mr. Brewster, "and is taxing to the utmost the statesmen of the present day. This problem will prove to be either the making or the breaking of the League of Nations, which so far has shown itself to be of value in dealing with small problems but in crises where larger powers are concerned so far the league has proved of no avail."

A brief summary of the Lytton Report was given and probable results of the discussions were tabulated. Mr. Twining gave a report on the general aspects of the conference while Mr. Maloney dealt with the lighter side of the meeting.

Council Expects to Launch Issue to Care For Municipal Financing

Possibility of Increase in Tax
Rate Foreseen During 1933

Starting along its thorny path of municipal financing for 1933, the Esquimalt Council yesterday evening at its first meeting since the elections, made preliminary arrangements for the launching of a $30,000 six per cent bond issue, to be paid back in ten years, and heard an announcement from Reeve Albert Heald to the effect that even if the issue is successful, the municipal general taxes and improvement levies be materially increased when the rates are struck.

After lengthy discussion the council, on a motion of Councillor Thomas Hadfield, seconded by Councillor R. A. Anderson, approved a resolution drafted by G. H. Sedger, municipal solicitor, regarding the bond issue. The resolution briefly set forth the requirements for the launching of the matter. The council planned to submit the proposal to the ratepayers of the district after securing power, through a private bill in the legislature, to effect the borrowing of that sum. Mr. Sedger announced the technicalities attending the passage of the bill, stating that negotiations would have to start right away. The scheme would have to be advertised by Wednesday and a printed copy of the suggested bill would have to be given to the provincial clerk, along with a fee of $300, eight days before the start of the session, he said.

It was not expected, the reeve stated, that the legislature would oppose the bill. If it did, then the responsibility for the financing of the municipality during the year and the excessive increase in taxation in Esquimalt would be charged to the Provincial Government, he said.

On the other hand, if the legislature passed the bill and the people of Esquimalt rejected it when it was placed before them as a by-law, the ratepayers themselves would be held responsible, he said.

As an alternative, the reeve continued, the municipality could raise the assessment on improvements from one-third, as it was in 1932, to three-quarters this year and could boost the mill rate up to thirty-five mills on the dollar. Such a course was highly objectionable, Reeve Heald added, since it would only discourage the taxpayers and lead to further defaults and reversals.

HIGHER TAX RATE

But even if the bond issue were carried through successfully a higher tax rate would be required, he said. Quoting a tentative estimate made by G. H. Pullen, municipal clerk, the reeve stated he believed the general rate would be 34.5 mills and the taxable assessment on improvements would be fifty per cent. Last year the mill rate was 30.20.

If the bond issue failed, Reeve Heald could not see how even a great increase in rates would meet the oak carryover loan of $20,950 from last year, along with other liabilities, and furnish sufficient funds to carry on necessary services and care for the unemployed.

He, therefore, asked support for the resolution suggesting the borrowing scheme. Mr. Sedger, who attended the meeting, outlined the steps that would have to be taken on the matter to meet the legal requirements.

Councillor T. Hadfield suggested the sum set forth for the issue would be sufficient to meet the requirements of the municipality during 1933. He advocated an increase in the loan to $30,000 but, meeting opposition from the other councillors, amended his motion to the suggested $30,000 figure.

BANK ADVISER

Following the passage of the resolution, letters were read from the Bank of Montreal emphasizing the necessity for the council to balance its budget and insure an increase in the tax rate to meet the $20,950 carryover from last year. The bank also asked for an audit on the municipality's finances as soon as possible and stated temporary credit would be given to Esquimalt to take care of debenture interest and other month-end payments required by the council.

The board decided to inform the bank of the steps being taken to secure the loan. A move to discuss prepayment of taxes was tabled for later consideration.

BALANCE GOOD BUT TRADE OFF

Washington, Jan. 20.—The United States completed the year 1932 with a favorable trade balance of $295,212,000, but this entailed a drop of $806,212,000 in exports and of $767,970,000 in imports.

The statistics, announced by Secretary Roy Chapin of the Commerce Department, showed 1932's exports amounted to $1,617,877,000 while imports were $1,322,665,000. In the month of December exports amounted to $136,000,000 and imports to $97,000,000.

Rheumatism Goes Swollen Joints Vanish

PAIN EASED FIRST DAY

If you suffer from crippling rheumatic pains, lame, knotted muscles or stiff, swollen joints, it's because your system is full of irritating poisons that cause rheumatism and make thousands helpless.

What you need right now is RU-MA, the new, internal medicine that acts directly on the liver, kidneys and blood, and expels through natural channels of elimination these dangerous poisons. Only an internal remedy will do this.

No long waiting for your suffering to stop—RU-MA eases pain first day and so quickly and safely ends stiffness, crippling lameness and torturing pain that MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug stores urge every rheumatic sufferer to get a bottle to-day. They guarantee it. (Adv.)

The service was conducted by Canon C. Carruthers, Archbishop L. O. Stringer and Archbishop S. P. Matheson occupied seats in the chancel.

NO LIBRARY BODY NAMED

Esquimalt Omits Appointment of Standing Committee
This Year

No library committee was appointed by Reeve Albert Heald at the Esquimalt Council meeting yesterday evening when other standing bodies for the year were named.

The reeve stated he had not yet appointed that committee because he thought the library too expensive and did not expect Esquimalt to make an agreement with the institution during 1933.

Councillor Thomas Hadfield, chairman of that committee last year, noted such a body would not be required until negotiations were taken up with the library.

If such a course were followed, the reeve stated he would be perfectly willing to have Councillor Hadfield act as chairman again.

The council as a whole was named to form the Court of Revision on the assessment roll and will meet on that matter on the evening of February 5.

Councillor Philip Going was appointed chairman of the finance committee, which includes Councillors Hadfield and Neil Fraser, while Councillor R. A. Anderson was again named chairman of the public works committee which consists of the council as a whole.

Councillor George Wise was selected leader of the fire and lights body with Councillors Anderson and Hadfield as his assistants, and Councillor A. T. Farley was again placed in charge of the parks committee on which Councillors Wise and Going will serve.

To take charge of relief matters, Councillor Fraser was appointed chairman of a special committee which includes the entire council.

PRISONERS PUT BACK TO WORK

Canadian Press
Kingston, Ont., Jan. 20.—Rumors of renewed trouble at the Portsmouth Penitentiary near here, were emphatically denied yesterday by Col. W. Megloughlin, warden of the institution. There had been reports of a disturbance Wednesday evening. Col. Megloughlin said there was nothing out of the ordinary.

Col. Megloughlin said that more than 375 convicts were back at their regular work in the prison shops. Since the October riots there had been little done in the shops and much work had piled up for the machine shop, mail bag department, tailor shop and other branches. Col. Megloughlin said matters were rapidly returning to normal and he anticipated no further trouble.

OATH ISSUE IN IRELAND CONTEST

Canadian Press
Dublin, Jan. 20.—If the Valera government is re-elected January 24 the oath of allegiance to the crown will disappear from the Irish Free State constitution. The bill to remove the oath now lies in "no man's land" between the Dail and the Senate.

The Dail passed it. The Senate added amendments which the Dail refused to accept.

The constitution provides that if after a general election the Dail again sends a bill to the upper house in its original form, the bill automatically becomes law at the end of sixty days no matter what the Senate may do.

President Eamon de Valera remains in power there is little doubt the bill will go up again. On the other hand, if he loses, William T. Cosgrave can, if he wishes, leave the bill where it is and it would be inoperative.

It was the oath bill, coupled with refusal to transfer land annuities, which led to the economic war between the Irish Free State and Great Britain.

NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN BRITAIN AND U.S. ON DEBTS IN MARCH

For an hour and a half this morning President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt conferred at the White House in Washington and at the end of their deliberations a statement informed the public that it had been agreed to open negotiations, early in March, with Great Britain on the subject of war-debt adjustment and "ways and means for improving the world situation." When the result of the conference reached London this evening it was described as "the best news in weeks."

The opinion in the United States has been growing recently that as Great Britain had met her December instalment, she was entitled to consideration. She had lived up to her obligations in difficult circumstances while other nations better able to pay had defaulted. To-day's development does not imply that our neighbor's bill against Britain will be cancelled; but it would seem to suggest that after all the phases of the debt question, its effect upon the receiving nation as well upon the nations doing the paying, have been examined, there will be a considerable scaling down in the economic interests of all the nations involved and the world in general.

It will be noted that the negotiations with Great Britain are to begin as soon as the new administration has taken office next March, and that the world's economic problems are to be discussed in conjunction with war debts. Two other problems are interlocked with war debts—tariffs and armaments. It can be taken for granted that the United States will be governed very largely in its attitude toward inter-governmental debts by what Europe proposes to do about its annual outlay on naval and military equipment. If there shall be a real disposition to curtail armaments in a substantial manner, our neighbor no doubt will be generous.

In the matter of tariffs, of course, Mr. Roosevelt is expected to follow the traditional policy of the Democrat party and make trading between his and other countries less difficult than it is at present. But even in this regard he will require a genuine assurance of co-operation on the part of all the other high tariff countries. Joint leadership by Great Britain and the United States in general economic reconstruction proposals, however, would soon produce beneficial results.

NOT SO FAST PROFESSOR!

Prof. Auguste Piccard, the mild Swiss professor who sailed 'way up into the stratosphere in a balloon last year, has invented a rocket plane in which he believes that he will be able to cross the Atlantic in less than half an hour.

The scientist divulged this not long ago when he sailed for a lecture tour in the United States. His plane, he said, ought to travel some three miles a second; and while it is hard to see how human bodies could ever endure being whirled through space at such a clip, Professor Piccard is quite confident that the plane will be thoroughly practical.

And so, once more, we come up to a question that has arisen only in the last few years: just what are our inventors worth to us, nowadays, and how are we going to keep on living with the devices which they keep tossing into our midst?

Suppose, for instance, that some such plane as this could be made available for use. What good would it do us?

The Atlantic, of course, would shrink to a millpond. New York and London would be closer together than New York and Albany are to-day. Singapore would be only a day's journey from Chicago. There would not be, on all the earth, a spot too remote for a bombing raid in time of war.

All of that, of course, would be very marvelous; but would it get us anywhere?

One of our greatest difficulties to-day is the fact that the world has shrunk too rapidly for our prejudices and our social habits to adjust themselves. We have hardly begun to learn that we are next-door neighbors to all the nations of the earth; we are still trying to operate a compact and highly integrated world by a system devised when each nation was isolated.

So far we have had pretty bad results. It will take, perhaps, another century or two for us to get into harmony with the speed of modern communications.

And this rocket plane would only intensify our troubles. We simply could not live up to it. We do not need it. Can not our inventors go fishing, or something, for a few decades, until we get settled?

OUR RESTLESS MOUNTAINS

One of the most interesting natural phenomena to get into the news recently is the account of a mountain of solid rock in Colorado which refuses to stay put, as we think all well-behaved mountains should, but goes on creaking and sliding about the countryside in a most insecure manner.

Ordinarily we think of mountains as the most stable and unchangeable of all the earth's features. Any geologist, however, can tell you that their stability is only relative. They change, they grow and shrink, they crumble down, they move about quite restlessly; only their changes are measured in hundreds of centuries instead of in years.

The antics of this Colorado mountain are an illustration.

A SIGNIFICANT REDUCTION OF CONSERVATIVE MAJORITY

Britain's National Government will not be able to extract very much satisfaction from the result of the by-election in the Exchange Division of Liverpool. It is true that a National Conservative has retained this traditional Tory seat; but the majority of 13,144 in the general election of 1931 has been reduced to 2,786 in a total vote of 27,610, compared with 34,149 on the previous occasion. Colonel Joseph J. Shute polled 15,198 votes against Laborite S. S. Silvermann's 12,412.

Only twice in the present century has this constituency been represented by other than a Conservative. In the 1900 election, Mr. Charles McArthur, who carried the Salisbury government's banner, defeated Mr. Frederick Verney, the Liberal standard-bearer, by 297 in a total vote of 4,325. In the Liberal-Free-Trade landslide of 1906, Mr. Richard R. Cherry turned the scales on Mr. McArthur with a margin of 121 in a total vote of 4,461. The Liberal candidate in the first general election in 1910 increased the former member's majority to 161; but in the second general election the same year, Mr. Leslie Scott regained the seat for the Conservative party with a majority of 143. Not since that contest has the Liberal party entered a candidate in this division. In 1918, Mr. Scott ran as a Coalition-Unionist against a Nationalist and scored a win with a majority of a little more than 8,000. This, of course, was the first election in which women voters took part. On the appointment of Mr. Scott to the Solicitor-Generalship in 1922, the by-election thus occasioned resulted in his return unopposed. The general election of that year, when party lines were re-established, Sir Leslie Scott, as he then had become, defeated a Nationalist by a little more than 3,000 votes. It was a fairly close battle in the famous Baldwin tariff election in 1923, but Sir Leslie nosed out an Independent opponent by 229 votes. In the "Red" election of 1924, however, the sitting member again was returned unopposed. The unpopularity of the Baldwin regime resulted in another close call for the Conservative candidate, Sir J. P. Reynolds, Bart., in 1929, when a Labor candidate entered the list for the first time, the government candidate retaining the seat by only 209 votes in a total ballot of more than 34,000. This he increased in 1931 to 13,144.

The National Government went in with a record majority fifteen months ago with a mandate to bring about a prompt improvement in the country's financial condition. The policies it pursued unquestionably put an end to the panic which had been caused by the flight from the pound. It discontinued the gold standard and manifold benefits to the trade of the nation were predicted. It imposed tariffs against all foreign imports with the exception of certain basic food commodities. This departure in fiscal policy was heralded as the beginning of a new economic era; no longer was Great Britain to be the dumping ground for all and sundry. The fact nevertheless remains that the total trade of the country in 1932 showed a decline compared with that of 1931 amounting to $980,000,000 and compared with that of 1930 of no less than $2,910,000,000. This very substantial drop in the import and export business explains to a large extent why the unemployment situation in Britain is not improving.

Despite what the disciples of protection may say, any increase in the cost of living, even in the smallest degree, at once is reflected in the action of the people at the polls in by-elections. In the contests which have been held since the end of October, 1931, there has been a marked change in sentiment. This week's by-election in the Exchange Division of Liverpool, in a traditional Conservative seat, is a reminder to the government that the majority it commands in the House of Commons hardly represents the political views of the people as a whole.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

NAPOLEON'S TRIBUTE
 The Brandon Sun

Over 100 years ago, after the battle of Waterloo, and at the end of a twenty years' war the gracious act of Great Britain drew from Napoleon the following tribute: "Thousands of years will pass before a like opportunity of establishing the prestige, the true greatness of England presents itself. Lord Castlereagh has divided the spoils with lavish hand among the sovereigns of Europe, and has kept nothing for his own country. He has given away enormous territories. Russia, Prussia, Austria have added millions of people to their empires. Yet England was the soul of victory and bore the whole cost."

THE ANGLO-PERSIAN OIL DISPUTE
 The New Statesman and Nation

The whole situation has changed since the concession was made. No more in those days imagined a situation in which the company would become part of the world oil combine deliberately restricting oil production. There is point in the Shah's contention that the oil field is not being fully exploited. In any case, if all the Shah wants is a revision of the terms of the concession, he is entitled to state his case, and it is well for us to admit this right at a time when almost every nation, including Great Britain, is discussing in terms of varying propriety the desirability of repudiating or revising old contracts.

HITCHING-POSTS AGAIN?
 The Edmonton Journal

Fresh evidence of old ways coming back as a result of new conditions is reported from Drumheller, Alberta, where the city clerk has proposed that hitching-posts be again provided for the use of farmers' teams. Time was when every town had its horse-hitching facilities and even here in Edmonton it is not many years since the last of the curbstone rings for that purpose disappeared.

In the days when Dobbin was king it was a picturesque sight to see long strings of assorted country rigs tied up in front of the stores and banks and the hitching-posts provided for their convenience were freely made use of. But when automobiles came into vogue and the hitching-posts, and gradually they have disappeared from almost every town and even from the country villages; for latterly farmers have taken, as well as other people, to driving around in motor-cars. At present, however, because of the economic situation, there is not so much motor traffic in and from the country and Dobbin, who operates license free and on much cheaper fuel, is coming back. But Dobbin is as likely as ever he was to need hitching, and so, the posts and curb-rings are coming back, too.

Loose Ends

This matter of women and wives—it's getting very serious. I am assured—a carpenter thinks deeply on larger aspects—I try to do the same—and find the going very hard.

By H. B. W.

WIVES

YOU NEVER know what secret miseries are worrying the world until you conduct a column of this sort and people start to write you anonymous letters from the heart. For example, in answer to my invitation for suggestions, a lady wrote me to-day a heart-wringing appeal on a subject not too deep for the public or me to understand. "Why don't you write," she said, "on the treachery of your own sex? Why don't you tell the public what is happening to the home life of this country? Do you even know yourself? Well, I can tell you. The men now-a-days are being corrupted by the movies, the magazines and the newspapers. Whenever they look on the movie screen, in the advertisements, on the billboards, they see women gorgeously gowned in the most expensive and clinging clothes. They see so many of these creatures hurled at them from all sides that they have come to the conclusion that the average woman looks like that, or should. They never realize that these painted beauties are picked from among millions, that they are gotten up in the most alluring dresses that art and money can produce, that their figures are molded by the most skilled corset makers, their hair dressed by the ablest dressers and their faces painted with more care than was ever bestowed on a canvas by one of the old masters."

WELL, DEAR sir, our husbands go to the movies or read the magazines and they come home and look at us—us who have no expensive clothes, no molded figures, no expert make-up and nothing worth molding or making up, us who can only cook their meals, wash their clothes, bring up their children and give them good homes. And what does the ordinary husband think? He thinks that somehow he has been cheated, that his wife isn't like other women, that she ought to be the mother of six children, a cook, a business manager and a sinuous siren at the same time. A few years ago a man could be satisfied with just a wife. Now he wants a movie queen to wash the dishes. Of course, the result is that he is disgusted and dissatisfied. I tell you, sir, this should be stopped while there is yet a chance to save the home. It is time you did something about it. Well, it should be easy for me to remedy this trouble. I have merely to persuade husbands not to be interested in pretty faces, not to look at neat curves and to keep their eyes for men in higher spheres than are hurled at them from all sides. It should be easy. I shall attend to this matter without delay.

CARPENTER

THE BEST letter I have ever received through this column comes through a nameless gentleman who styles himself a "bumble carpenter," and apologizes for outlining his views on things because he is inarticulate and uneducated. Whereupon he proceeds to show that he is more articulate and better educated than most of the intellectuals. A carpenter, of course, handling real materials instead of the proceeds of high-class usury, building up homes instead of collecting rent and taxes from their occupants, is likely to be better educated in a true sense than many men in higher spheres. Only a gross and third-rate person, sweeping by in his expensive automobile, has failed at times to realize that the fellow working in the ditch beside the road is a far better man than he is. A decent man never dines in a good hotel or restaurant without the inward knowledge that the waiter who serves him probably has much more money than he has a properly ordered world of equal opportunity. Anyway, my humble carpenter reminds me sharply that all men who work with their hands understand what I have said here so often, that the human animal requires such work, needs to work with real materials that he can handle and feel, as well as with abstract ideas, profits and losses, if he is to keep his sanity. But the average worker, while understanding these things, is not in a position to talk about them, or to make money writing about them.

MY CARPENTER friend, who has lost everything in the crash, demonstrates his own sanity. He says he knows a millionaire and several big business men, and they always cry on his shoulder over the hard times. He leaves them feeling guilty because he didn't give them the quarter he had in his pocket. The working people, most of whom never did experience prosperity even in the boom years, he says, cannot golf or play bridge, attend drinking parties or indulge in any other of the more intellectual pleasures of the rich, but they think and they read, and they don't lose their heads. If they ever do lose their heads, he says, God help Canada, particularly with the present fatheads (the words are his) at the helm. And altogether one feels on reading this letter that it is better to be an educated carpenter, even if his largest project is a dog-kennel, than an illiterate captain of industry or an abandoned statesman who has never felt tools and the means of creation in his hands.

THINKING

I AM GLAD to hear that the working people, or some of them, are thinking these days. Not many of us are. The other day I had to attend a service in a certain church and by a faulty calculation of the time, I arrived half an hour too early. I had thus to sit for a full half hour without any way of amusing myself except with those pure joys of contemplation which the poets have so often acclaimed. It is an interesting test and a serious disillusionment to sit still and think for thirty minutes without pause. You will find that you cannot keep your mind on one subject for more than two or three minutes at a stretch. You will experience the utmost misery in trying to hold an idea for five minutes without the intrusion of any other. Most likely your average idea will last about thirty seconds.

IT IS DIFFICULT to see into other people's minds, and most people don't bother to keep track of the operations of their own; but I judge, after considering the matter fully during that awful half hour in church, that the average mind is just a flickering motion picture of ideas that come and go a hundred a minute and wouldn't be worth while even if they stayed. I am prepared to believe, indeed, that if every man were forced to sit in silence for half an hour a day and really think hard on the problems of society and the larger aspects of life, the world would be transformed in a year or so. Fortunately for those who like it as it is, this is not likely to happen. People are not likely to start thinking half an hour a day or even five minutes. I have only thought consecutively for half an hour once in my life, and the experience has quite shaken me. After facing the facts thus, I shall never be the same again. And the worst of it is, I can't remember any of the excellent ideas that I thought. In future I shall stick to words, and leave thoughts to carpenters and others more capable of handling them.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
 JANUARY 20, 1908

From The Times Files

Weather Forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Moderate to fresh northerly winds, fair and colder.

The Empress Hotel was formally opened to-day, when about fifty active newspapermen and railway officials of the C.P.R. in an informal way had lunch together. This morning the register of the hotel was thrown open, Mrs. Stewart Gordon, the wife of the manager, being the first to inscribe her name. Hayter Reed, superintendent of C.P.R. hotels, followed with Manager Gordon next.

There is a deputation in town to-day to interview the government. It is worthy of special note in that it represents a special class of people who have started a colonization movement in British Columbia. They are known as the Dunkers, who are said to have ideas and fancies similar to those of the Quakers. They have in view settling upon a vast area near Ashcroft.

In the Oak Bay municipality on Saturday there was very little excitement over the election, although a good many turned out to vote. The only contest was in the centre ward, all the others being returned by acclamation. The candidates were Messrs. Pernie, Noble and Arnold, and the first two mentioned were elected. Arnold was the candidate put up by the Monterey Avenue section, who felt that they were badly used by the council last year.

Without their regular captain, and with several of their crack players unable to play, the Victoria rugby fifteen won out over Nanaimo by a score of 11 to 9.

HANDS OFF HONEST HOME BREWERS

To the Editor:—I see by the papers that the beer-brewers are trying to make the home-brewers stop brewing their brew.

Is it any wonder that hundreds of people are brewing their own beer when they can do it for about one-tenth of the cost of the liquid supplied through the government vendors? The brewers have the remedy in their own hands. A HOME-BREWER.

ESQUIMALT ELECTION

To the Editor:—May I, by your courtesy, thank everyone who supported me? and to all those ladies and gentlemen who helped me in any way by their very kind wishes at the poll last Saturday. I very much appreciate the confidence placed in me and I will endeavor to continue to merit their confidence by doing the very best I can by close attention to all matters which may arise. (MRS.) S. KING.

Liverpool Voters Elect Conservative

Canadian Press
 Liverpool, Eng., Jan. 20.—Col. Joseph J. Shute, National Conservative, won the Liverpool Exchange division by-election yesterday with a majority of 2,786 votes over S. S. Silvermann, his Labor opponent.

The vote was: Shute, 15,198; Silvermann, 12,412.

The by-election was necessitated by the death of Sir James Reynolds.

Be Sensible about the FLU
 With every epidemic of influenza comes an epidemic of advice. But if you have the flu—or you even suspect its presence—there's just one thing to do. Call a doctor immediately.

There are, however, some simple, sensible precautions that everyone should take at this time. Try to keep in good physical condition. Guard against colds or sore throat by avoiding contact with all coughers and sneezers. The germs of disease will often fasten upon the man or woman whose vitality has been lowered by a severe cold.

If you should catch a cold, Aspirin will help you to fight it. Keep a supply of these tablets in the house and take them according to directions at the first sign of any cold. Crush three Aspirin tablets in about half a glass of water and gargle as directed, if there is any soreness of the throat.

Be sure to use the genuine Aspirin tablets; they are of proven efficacy. Above all, don't delay calling your doctor if you have reason to suspect that you have caught the flu.

FILM STARS AND THEIR FAMILY

Here is a cheerful new answer to the old charge that Hollywood fails to foster family life. They are Sturges of filmland—better known as Sue Carol, popular movie star, her actor-husband Nick Sturges, and six-month-old Carol Lee Sturges, shown as they arrived in New York from California.

Minister's Daughter Weds Member of Victoria Family

Miss Marjory Stevens Bride of James E. Lovick at Ottawa Ceremony

Bridegroom's Father Was Former Victorian; Has Other Relatives Here

Canadian Press
 Ottawa, Jan. 20.—Of widespread interest was the wedding here yesterday evening of Marjory Gertrude, daughter of the Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Mrs. Stevens, to James E. H. Lovick, only son of the late Frank Lovick and Mrs. Lovick, of Vancouver. The ceremony was very quiet, with only the immediate relatives and intimate friends present.

HOME CEREMONY
 Rev. W. Kelloway, pastor of Dominion United Church, officiated at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 37 Linden Terrace, which was attractively adorned with Premier Supreme roses for the occasion.

The bride party stood under an arch of southern smilax in the drawing-room. The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Miss Patricia Stevens, her sister, a bridesmaid, Little Patrice Murphy, young daughter of Hon. T. G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior, and Mrs. Murphy, was a winsome flower girl. Dr. John Stanley of Kingston was best man.

The wedding music was played by J. O. Ker, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Elsie Cleve-Howe sang sweetly "O Promise Me."

ATTRACTION BRIDE
 A lovely model of white satin made on long princess lines was worn by the bride. Her tulle veil was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of tall-tapered roses and lily of the valley. The bridesmaid was pretty in buttercup yellow crepe, a Fata model, and she wore a bandeau to match on her hair and carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

The flower girl wore a frilly frock of shell pink georgette and carried a basket of mixed blossoms. She also wore a dainty ribbon and flower wreath on her hair.

Mrs. Stevens, mother of the bride, wore a handsome model of pastel blue crepe satin, with touches of egg shell chiffon velvet. Mrs. John Stanley of Kingston was in pea d'ange lace and wore tallman roses.

RECEPTION HELD
 Following the ceremony, a reception was held for those present. Premier Supreme roses were used to adorn the dining-room, with tall crimson tapers on the bride's table and buffet to match. Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, the Prime Minister, proposed the toast to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovick left for Toronto, Montreal and Kingston, and will later take up residence in Vancouver. The bride traveled in a smart costume of sapphire blue silk crepe with hat to match, and wore a brown fur coat. The bridegroom's father, the late Mr. Frank Lovick, was formerly a resident of Victoria and a member of the firm of Hicks and Lovick, piano dealers. His grandfather is Mr. C. J. Gladding, of Santa Barbara, formerly of Victoria, and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Catterall, live on Linden Avenue.

ERNEST SEITZ HERE MONDAY
 Of Ernest Seitz, brilliant Canadian pianist who will give a recital in the Empress Hotel ballroom on Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock, The Toronto Telegram says: "Mr. Seitz did breath-taking things on the piano with a zest and mastery restraint that only the very greatest pianists reveal."

Mr. Seitz will give one recital only in Victoria, and is playing here with the endorsement of the Victoria Musical Art Society and the Victoria Music Teachers' Association, and under the management of Mrs. J. O. Cameron. It will be a noteworthy event in the musical year of the city, and the first recital of the new year. Mr. Seitz will present a programme of unusual interest, selecting some of the finest compositions from the old and the modern composers. Tickets may be obtained from Fletcher Bros., the Willis Piano Company and the Empress Hotel.

PERSONAL

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was "at home" to the members of the Advisory Board to Farmers' Institutes, who are meeting in the city. There was served the guests including Messrs. A. B. Smith, O. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture.

Mrs. J. Calder Waugh of Rockland Avenue, who sailed some weeks ago for Europe, will take the Mediterranean cruise of the S. S. Empress of Australia, and will not return to Victoria until late in the spring. She is now in Holland and will join the Empress of Australia at Naples.

Miss Kay Clarke entertained the members of the "Bid-a-wee" Bridge Club on Wednesday evening at her home, 554 Dupplin Road. A very enjoyable evening was spent and prizes were won by Miss Phyllis May and Miss Margaret Matthews. At the close of the evening a buffet supper was served by the hostess. Those present were the Misses Doris Ockwell, Phyllis May, Doreen Cooper, Mildred Stephens, Margaret Matthews, Eileen Thomas, Kay Clarke and Hazel Cross.

At the tea given by the Jubilee Hospital Alumnae Association on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. W. A. Chambers, a charter member, who has served as president, vice-president and secretary, Miss J. Moore, the president, welcomed the guests, among whom were: Mrs. W. A. Chambers, Mrs. W. A. Webster, Mrs. L. S. V. York, Mrs. E. Langford, Mrs. G. M. Duncan, Mrs. J. Russell, Mrs. W. C. Wilson, Mrs. C. Lancaster, Mrs. A. Carruthers, Mrs. M. A. Thomas, Mrs. Alf. Dowell, and Miss J. Moore, L. Mitchell, P. Moore, B. Bradshaw, S. Fatt, E. Newman, L. Main, M. Clarke, C. Todd, J. Stewart, J. Grant, P. Winters, A. McInnis, J. Paterson and B. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon B. Paterson of Orchard Avenue, will leave to-night for Vancouver, where they will spend a short time with Mr. Paterson's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. William Gunn. They will also visit Mr. and Mrs. A. McD. Paterson at Ladner.

Over 100 reservations have already been made for tables for the special anniversary afternoon tea at the Empress Hotel to-morrow afternoon. There will be an attractive musical programme by Dr. and Mrs. Harry Johns, assisted by the hotel orchestra, and the vocal numbers will include "Spring's Awakening" and "Dawn," by Mrs. Johns; "Song of Songs" and "The Little Old Garden," duets by Dr. and Mrs. Johns and "Aspirations" and "Invictus," by Dr. Johns. The supper dance in the evening will attract a large number of guests, and there will be dances by Carlina's pupils, and by Wynne Shaw and Doreen Wilson.

Mrs. Henry Angus of Vancouver, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cleithus, Hampshire Road, was the guest of honor when Mrs. W. L. Clay and Miss Margaret Clay entertained a few friends at the tea hour at their home on Linden Avenue yesterday afternoon.

Announcement was made yesterday of the engagement of Miss Dorothea Bewley, only daughter of Col. and Mrs. A. W. Bewley, of Alverstone, to Mr. W. F. Haswell, formerly of R.M.S. Medway on the China Station, who is now on leave in England with his parents at their home at Totter, Ex. and Herefordshire. Miss Bewley returned here Monday aboard the Empress of Asia after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cameron in Hongkong. She has since been visiting Mr. John Burns in Vancouver, and left the mainland city yesterday for her home in England.

Mrs. J. E. McMullen entertained at four tables of bridge at her home in Vancouver yesterday for Mrs. H. E. Ridegout of Victoria, for whom Mrs. E. W. Kamber will be a luncheon hostess to-morrow.

Soviet Education Plan Good Farm Women Are Told
 Calgary, Jan. 20.—Soviet Russia's educational programme is "the greatest educational experiment the world has ever seen," according to Mrs. Winifred Ross of Millet, who delivered her report as convener of education before the United Farm Women of Alberta annual convention yesterday.

"We may not accept answers which they have given to questions such as the purpose of education, its relation to society, the function of the school, but we cannot refuse to give our best thought to doing for our society what Russian educators are doing and have done," she declared.

Mrs. E. W. Barritt of Mirror, Alta., declared the U.F.W.A. was founded on protest—protest against the position in which farm women found themselves in 1913. It was a protest against "loneliness, isolation and hardships of farm life."

Mrs. Barritt was the first provincial secretary of the U.F.W.A. and the first president of the first local. She described the great struggle of the founders of the organization and paid tribute to the newspaperwomen who guided its faltering steps in the early days.

She concluded by urging the delegates to further the work of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, declaring the letters G.C.F. stood for "Come, Comrades—Fight."

The convention elected Mrs. Ross first vice-president, and Mrs. Marie Malloy, of Warner, second vice-president.

Torguay Mayoress Instantly Killed
 Torguay, Eng., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Denis Thomas, mayoress of Torguay met instant death yesterday evening when the car in which she was driving skidded on an icy road above Oddcombe Beach and plunged over the side of a cliff to the beach 130 feet below.

Accompanying her was Alderman Cogh, who was gravely injured.

Hotel Celebrates Its Silver Jubilee

C.P.R. Empress Hotel Was Opened Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

Special Events Arranged By Management to Mark Anniversary

To-day marks the silver jubilee of the Empress Hotel, which was opened January 20, 1908. In celebration of the occasion, Manager J. K. Hodges has arranged a special music and dance programme. At the tea hour this afternoon Miss Violet Wilson was the soloist.

To-morrow at the tea hour the soloists will be Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Johns and to-morrow evening a cabaret dance will be held in the Crystal ballroom.

The original hotel consisted of 160 guest rooms, with rotunda, dining-room and office. The first north wing, with seventy-four rooms, was added in September, 1910, and the south wing, containing 100 rooms, was completed in January, 1913. The ballroom was built in the previous year, and its luxurious suites, which were opened December 21, 1929.

Stewart Gordon was the original manager of the Empress Hotel and since his time the hotel has been managed by H. B. Jackson, A. Benaglia, T. Calza, W. Windsor, B. F. Quail, J. O. Evans, Colonel Humble, H. J. Wilson and J. K. Hodges.

HOTEL OPENING

Covering the opening of the Empress Hotel in the issue of January 21, 1908. The Victoria Daily Times said:

"The C.P.R. may justly feel proud of their latest addition to their line of hotels across the continent. The Empress lacks nothing possessed by the others in the way of comfort and appointments."

"The C.P.R. as a transportation company has made provision whereby travelers from Europe may proceed all the way to the Orient without transferring from the original company which furnishes them with hotel accommodation throughout so that no necessity is found by the traveler to deal through the trip with other than the C.P.R. company. This undoubtedly possesses great advantages which the traveling public have realized. For a long time the need of an hotel by the company has been felt in Victoria the point at which so many of its touring passengers seek to spend a few days, weeks or in many instances, months, on a round-the-world trip. The Empress has been built to fill that want, and completes the chain of hotels possessed by the C.P.R."

"Among the newspapermen and women and others who came from outside points to attend the opening were the following: J. E. Norcross, World; Vancouver; E. Payne, New Westlander; Bernard McEvoy, Vancouver; John P. McConnell, Percy F. Goodenrich, Mrs. Fitz-Gibbon (Sally Bernard); J. W. Gilbert, Spokane; H. A. Chadwick, Seattle; Paul Chamberlain, Portland; S. J. S. Carter, Spokane; C. M. Hyskell, Portland; August Asay, Spokane; C. R. Williams, Seattle; P. R. Johnson, Portland; C. H. Williams, Portland; A. B. Calder, Seattle; Carl Roe, Walla Walla; J. P. Parkinson, Seattle; G. M. Jackson, Spokane; Paul Hedrich, Seattle; E. C. Bunkley, Vancouver; W. J. Defenbaugh and wife, Seattle; Eugene Sorton, Walla Walla; Thomas D. Merrill, Duluth; R. D. Merrill, Seattle; Dr. and Mrs. W. McDowell, Seattle; Dr. and Mrs. W. Laurin, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. W. Norcross, Nanaimo, and Dr. Reynolds, Nanaimo.

"Hayter Reed, manager of hotels, proposed at luncheon the toast of The King, which was drunk to the strains of God Save the King. 'The President of the United States' followed, responded to with the singing of 'My Country 'Tis of Thee'.

"Our Guests" was proposed and drunk by the company of C.P.R. officials present. Following this the guests drank to the toast of the C.P.R. C. H. Laurin spoke relative to the work done by the C.P.R. Mr. Defen-baugh, of Seattle also spoke of the good work of the company.

Speeches were made by John Nelson, Capt. Glue Phillips-Wolley, Mr. Chadwick of Seattle, and J. S. H. Matson, who proposed a toast to Hayter Reed and Manager Stewart Gordon. Mr. Reed replied, and in response to repeated calls, George Ham was forced to speak."

Messages of greeting and regret, at their inability to be present, were read from the honorary president, the Countess of Beasborough, and from the wives of the Lieutenant-Governors of the provinces.

"The programme for 1933 was outlined by Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, and Mrs. Augustine and Mrs. Rattray were appointed delegates to the Presbytery meeting which takes place next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Dr. Wilson congratulated the society on the wonderful work done during the year. The lesson was read by Mrs. McLennan, followed by prayer by Mrs. Todd, and a solo by Miss Howells, accompanied by Miss Smith.

The retiring secretary, Mrs. Jessie Smith, read the summary of the year's minutes.

Mrs. L. H. McQueen, West Saanich Road, has returned home from the Jubilee Hospital.

Central Exchange Conserves Finances for Welfare Work

First Annual Report Shows Value of Clearing House to Community

Miss Laura Holland Commends Plan for Pooling of Welfare Resources

The value of a central clearing house for family welfare work, as a means of conserving finances and preventing the abuse of charity, was ably demonstrated in the reports presented at the Central Exchange of Greater Victoria at the first annual meeting held yesterday afternoon. F. E. Winslow, the chairman, presided, and about one hundred representatives of interested organizations and members of the committee were in attendance.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT DISAPPOINTING

In his presidential address Mr. Winslow deprecated the disappointing financial support given to the central exchange in the seven months since it had been organized. He recalled the pledge made by representatives at the organization meeting last May, noting that a number had failed to fulfill their promise to support it financially, although most of them had availed themselves of the services, and reminded the meeting that more assistance must be forthcoming in the coming year.

Gratification was expressed by the chairman at the gesture made by the Social Service League in offering to place its records and funds at the disposal of an amalgamated organization, and reference was made to the tentative proposal for the amalgamation of the League and the Friendly Help Association which have been under consideration.

DUPLICATION AVOIDED

The Central Exchange started with five of the organizations registering their families, that number having now grown to thirty-two. Mrs. R. W. Hartley, the secretary, showed in her report of the period from May to December 31 up to December 31, 1932, 6,903 registrations were entered, of which 4,538 or 65.6 per cent were identified as being known to other organizations. Her analysis showed: 2,375 are known to one organization; 1,025 to two; 403 to three; 177 to four; eighty-one to five; twenty to six; four to seven, while one case was known to eight organizations.

The Exchange received 516 inquiries for information only, which inquiries are counted, as the value of the service depends upon the workers themselves on whether they are making use of the information available. The report noted. Reference was also made to the Christmas Exchange and its value in helping in the equitable distribution of Christmas cheer, and at the same time saving the unfortunate recipient of assistance from a series of "investigations" for the purpose of securing aid.

TRANSURE'S STATEMENT

Capt. C. F. L. Money, the treasurer, supported the chairman in his reminder to the various organizations to keep their promises of financial support. The receipts for May 9 to December 31 were $1,270.88, while the disbursements totaled $1,197.53, of which $619.34 represented the secretary's salary; $63, extra help, and $93 out of the office; $87, office furniture, the balance being for telephone, postage and sundry expenses.

Victoria city and the three neighboring municipalities between them had contributed $900; the Social Service League and the Citizens' Unemployment Relief paid $100 each, the statement revealed.

The present board was unanimously re-elected for 1933 as follows: F. E. Winslow, chairman; Reeve William Crouch, Mrs. W. J. Cullum, Mrs. Durand, Major Fullerton (Salvation Army), Henry Albert Healy (Esquimalt), Capt. C. F. L. Money, P. E.

J. K. HODGES

baugh of Seattle also spoke of the good work of the company.

Speeches were made by John Nelson, Capt. Glue Phillips-Wolley, Mr. Chadwick of Seattle, and J. S. H. Matson, who proposed a toast to Hayter Reed and Manager Stewart Gordon. Mr. Reed replied, and in response to repeated calls, George Ham was forced to speak."

Miss M. W. Kydd Gives Challenge

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—Miss M. Winnifred Kydd, of Montreal, president of the National Council of Women of Canada, in her presidential address at the executive committee meeting yesterday stressed the four-fold challenge facing the council—unemployment, education, internationalism and idealism.

Messages of greeting and regret, at their inability to be present, were read from the honorary president, the Countess of Beasborough, and from the wives of the Lieutenant-Governors of the provinces.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

BABY DOES NOT NEED BACK PROPPED TO LEARN HOW TO SIT ERECT

The age at which children can sit alone, creep and walk, varies greatly. Some children can hold their backs erect without support at four months of age. The average age is about six months. The development of this ability depends on the baby's diet. It has no relation whatever to forcing baby to sit upright, and it is not a "learned habit" for which the mother is responsible. Sitting up is solely the result of growth and natural development.

SLOW TO SIT UP

When the baby is unusually slow about sitting up and his back is not held erect, changes should be made in the diet to bring about a better bony and muscular development. Mrs. R. B. has been worrying about this for some time. She writes: "A few months ago I wrote you for advice and I am writing again. My baby girl is seven months old, weighs eighteen and one half pounds, and my only trouble is that she cannot sit up yet. She can lift her head and shoulders and likes to pull herself to a sitting position, holding to my fingers, but it makes me heart sick to see how her back curves. When we carry her, she holds her neck erect."

CHANGED FORMULA

"When I wrote before I got your leaflets on feeding the first year and on figuring sweet milk formulas, and I noted that the baby was getting too much sugar in her formula and not enough milk. I changed her formula and she now takes four cups of milk daily. In addition she eats one cupful of cereal a day, the juice of one orange, and six to eight tablespoons of vegetable soup. I did not start cod liver oil until a short time ago and then she spit up most of it. She now takes three teaspoonfuls a day. Could this be the cause of her weak back?"

"I have no high chair for her and did not intend to buy one yet, but if you think it will help her back, I learn to sit up we will buy one, of course."

"I am so discouraged as we always thought she was such a strong, healthy baby. All the members of our family are healthy. I will wait for your answer before doing anything."

FOODS CORRECT

The baby's diet is excellent now. Baby should have had cod liver oil daily from September on, but since you have rectified this omission, its effect on baby's whole development should be speedily noticeable. You might profitably read my leaflet, "Normal Development to One Year," which is available to any reader who will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

There need be no increase in amounts of food as baby is now getting sufficient of all the foods for a child up to one year of age. You'll note in the leaflet that thirty-two ounces of milk is the maximum amount for any child.

You'll need the high chair for feeding baby as soon as she can sit up in it, but no baby needs to be propped in a sitting position. Continue to let her pull herself up with your help, then lie down when tired. The strength to sit erect comes about just as does the cutting of teeth or the ability to lift the head or any other physical change you note in baby, because of the normal development due to proper feeding.

First United W.M.S. Review Busy Year

An interesting report of the year's work was given by the conveners of the various committees at the January meeting of the First United W.M.S. Mrs. Campbell, treasurer, stated that the yearly allocation had been made up.

Mrs. Rattray mentioned the large amount of literature sent to foreign and home missions, and Mrs. Todd told of 420 strangers visited. The supply secretary, Mrs. Schroeder, enumerated a long list of clothing, food and cash sent to the needy. Mrs. Tweed thanked the press for publishing the monthly reports. Mrs. Craig commented on the number of subscribers to the Missionary Monthly, and Mrs. Beare of the activities of the different divisions.

The programme for 1933 was outlined by Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, and Mrs. Augustine and Mrs. Rattray were appointed delegates to the Presbytery meeting which takes place next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Dr. Wilson congratulated the society on the wonderful work done during the year. The lesson was read by Mrs. McLennan, followed by prayer by Mrs. Todd, and a solo by Miss Howells, accompanied by Miss Smith.

The retiring secretary, Mrs. Jessie Smith, read the summary of the year's minutes.

Central Exchange Conserves Finances for Welfare Work

First Annual Report Shows Value of Clearing House to Community

Miss Laura Holland Commends Plan for Pooling of Welfare Resources

The value of a central clearing house for family welfare work, as a means of conserving finances and preventing the abuse of charity, was ably demonstrated in the reports presented at the Central Exchange of Greater Victoria at the first annual meeting held yesterday afternoon. F. E. Winslow, the chairman, presided, and about one hundred representatives of interested organizations and members of the committee were in attendance.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT DISAPPOINTING

In his presidential address Mr. Winslow deprecated the disappointing financial support given to the central exchange in the seven months since it had been organized. He recalled the pledge made by representatives at the organization meeting last May, noting that a number had failed to fulfill their promise to support it financially, although most of them had availed themselves of the services, and reminded the meeting that more assistance must be forthcoming in the coming year.

Gratification was expressed by the chairman at the gesture made by the Social Service League in offering to place its records and funds at the disposal of an amalgamated organization, and reference was made to the tentative proposal for the amalgamation of the League and the Friendly Help Association which have been under consideration.

DUPLICATION AVOIDED

The Central Exchange started with five of the organizations registering their families, that number having now grown to thirty-two. Mrs. R. W. Hartley, the secretary, showed in her report of the period from May to December 31 up to December 31, 1932, 6,903 registrations were entered, of which 4,538 or 65.6 per cent were identified as being known to other organizations. Her analysis showed: 2,375 are known to one organization; 1,025 to two; 403 to three; 177 to four; eighty-one to five; twenty to six; four to seven, while one case was known to eight organizations.

The Exchange received 516 inquiries for information only, which inquiries are counted, as the value of the service depends upon the workers themselves on whether they are making use of the information available. The report noted. Reference was also made to the Christmas Exchange and its value in helping in the equitable distribution of Christmas cheer, and at the same time saving the unfortunate recipient of assistance from a series of "investigations" for the purpose of securing aid.

MRS. MEYRICK DIED YESTERDAY

Notorious "Night Club Queen" Victim of Influenza; Believed Very Wealthy

London, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Kate Meyrick, notorious "Night Club Queen," died yesterday evening of influenza at the residence of her son-in-law, the Earl of Kinnoull, in London.

Mother-in-law of two peers, and frequent inmate of prisons, Mrs. Meyrick was believed to have died very wealthy as a result of running successive clubs to which the youth of London flocked for years. Her other son-in-law is Lord de Clifford.

Her offenses, for which she paid many thousands of pounds in fines besides imprisonment, were mainly the selling of intoxicants at prohibited hours and otherwise illegally, but in 1929 she was convicted of bribery and conspiracy, for which she received a sentence of fifteen months at hard labor.

Repeated penalties did not deter her and she always renewed her law-breaking, the last prosecution being in May, 1931, for selling intoxicants without a license. She charged huge prices in her club for liquors.

In 1931 Mrs. Meyrick gave her promise never to run another club, and she kept it.

Gifts to Friendly Help, Esquimalt

The Esquimalt Friendly Help Society acknowledges with gratitude the following gifts sent for distribution at Christmas time: Cash, Mr. McKay (Munro Street), Mrs. W. W. Wilson, Mrs. Jim Purdy, Mrs. Neville Smith, "Two Ladies," Miss Henry, Mary Croft Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.O.F. Council and Mrs. P. G. G. Leung, Esquimalt Chapter, A.C. Wurtel, "Nat," Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Driscoll, Mrs. Dunsmuir, C. P. Hill, Ch. and P.O.'s mess, Lady Barnard, Mrs. Troup, Mrs. Matson, Mrs. J. W. Benning, Anon., Mrs. A. Morkill, Mrs. Stallard, Mrs. Dawson, Mr. Daniels, Capt. and Mrs. R. P.

BACK ACHED NIGHT AND DAY

Woman's Ten Months of Suffering

Backache is like many other complaints in that the only sure way to deal with it is to remove the cause. That is what this woman did:

"I have suffered with terrific backaches night and day for this last 10 months, and have spent a great deal on various remedies—without result. A few weeks ago I decided to give Kruschen Salts a trial, and I am thankful to say I am feeling better and better ever since I have taken them. I take once a day a medicinal dose. If only people knew, they would not spend the money they do on other things when they could derive such benefit from Kruschen Salts." (Mrs.) J. V. F.

If you want swift relief from the torture of backache—if you want to end kidney trouble for all time—put the six vital salts of Kruschen into your blood. The principle is this—Kruschen Salts—start—your kidneys functioning again as Nature intended they should. Poisons that have been allowed to accumulate in your system are promptly expelled. When these poisons go, those agonising aches and pains have to go too!

And if you continue with the "little daily dose"—keep your kidneys up to a proper performance of their duty—there'll be no likelihood of any such poisons ever accumulating again. You'll be rid of backache for the rest of your life. Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle. (Adv.)

"I'm only a bride but I've learned this"

"When you're married to a young fellow who is starting out in the world with a small salary and has already taken one 'cut', you certainly puncture a lot of theories while attempting to make both ends meet—theories about what should be spent for clothes, for groceries, even for tooth paste.

"Before marriage I used to think that unless a dress cost $45 it wasn't fit to be worn. Now I know better. I don't wear that kind any more. I used to think that one had to pay absurd prices for food, for meat, to get quality. But the depression and a few shopping tours with the I-want-my-money's-worth attitude convinced me that I was wrong about that, too.

"Finally I began to look at tooth paste with the critical eye of the Budgeteer. I asked myself 'Is there any sense in paying 40¢ or more for a dentifrice? After a little experimenting, I learned that for 25¢ I could buy the finest quality tooth paste. At the outset I was a little skeptical but time proved that my teeth were whiter, my gums firmer, and my mouth healthier as a result of using Listerine Tooth Paste.

"Jim reported the same results. And it's a comfort to realize it saves us from $3 to $6 a year."

That delightful taste

In less than 5 years, Listerine Tooth Paste has won its way to leadership. More than 4,000,000 people have discarded costly dentifrices in favor of this modern one at 25¢.

Such success could never have been won unless this tooth paste possessed outstanding quality and achieved remarkable results.

Buy a tube today. Note how swiftly but gently it cleans teeth, erasing tartar and discoloration. And note particularly the refreshing feeling it imparts to mouth and gums—the sensation you associate with Listerine itself. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, Toronto, Ontario.

WEEK-END MURDER

By GABRIELLE E. FOREUSH

Their eyes met.
"Then he says he heard the click of a door latch and then the creaking creaking once or twice."
"How can he say he heard all that and not the voices?" she asked.
When Cousin Amos was thrown overboard and then admit he heard him fall inside the room only a few minutes later.
"Says he, just like that. He acts as if he controlled it like turning a water faucet. He heard the creaking door—then he slept. He woke to hear a step, a door latch and the door again. Then he says, silence—and off to sleep again. A little later, a thump. Up springs Marvin, grabs his pants, and dashes off to your rescue."
"Don't forget the underwear," said Linda.
"Oh, yes. Off pyjamas—or perhaps he wears a nightgown—on underwear, on pants—enough for modesty, yet done in a trice. I believe that is the correct expression."
"It does sound phoney." Linda seemed thinking aloud. "But you said yourself Marvin was a quick mover."
"I did and he is. But Binkie," she said he was very reluctant to talk about it yesterday. To-day, while he didn't bubble over, he was ready enough with his information. Strikes me he's had time to think about it. He may be a slow thinker, but as you pointed out, he's a slow thinker, and sees he's got to talk about it perfectly open and naturally—and to give a good clear story, too."
"Well, how do you think he did it?" demanded Linda.
"How's this for—what did Shagnessy call it—reconstruction? Pratt didn't understand completely or go to bed. He has a hot little room and a small one. Well, after we get back he sits up, hot and broody, door open—and hears that infernal creaking going 'rock-rock' as you call it. He starts it just so long. Then he goes more or less berserk and starts out to stop it or know the reason why.
"Perhaps he knocks on the door. Perhaps he thinks Cousin Amos is asleep and he can simply pull the window to and tip-toe out. Probably he doesn't think anything about it—just goes. Cousin Amos bobs up in bed and gives him hell for forcible entry. Marvin explains his purpose. He's still angry at the old man and probably more than that with him. Cousin Amos gets madder. Marvin, spare that door—touch not—retreats. Marvin grabs up a towel from the chair—and is done! That's the way I figure it out anyhow."

CHAPTER XL

Tom, intent on his story, spoke slowly. He was seeing all that had happened, exactly as he described it. "Pratt stands there paralyzed for a moment. Then he hears you, Linda, coming as fast as you can run. He dashes for the door, realizes he can't make it, he crouches beside the window, hoping you won't come in but out of sight if you do. You rush in and go straight for the case door. You couldn't tell it was murder but his own knowledge of guilt confuses his mind. He grabs up a towel from the chair—and you know the rest."
She was silent and Tom continued: "Remember he's seen me swimming in. He flings the towel out on the balcony, figuring no one will see it. There and that he can get it later. He bends over you waiting for me to come or for others who may be roused and cut off his retreat. Best not try to get away. Tell that story of hearing you fall and stick to it."
"And now," said Linda speculatively, "he's peacefully at church."
"Now—and then—and all the time if he's a homicidal maniac," said Tom soberly, "all rules of conduct are null and void. He's sane except when something drives him cuckoo. He attacks—and kills—and is sane again. That is, always assuming he's the one."
Linda shivered.
"Does that let Mr. Statlander off? He couldn't hear the noise so well at the end of the hall?"
"But he could hear it. You heard it plainly. If he slept with his door open he could easily have been kept awake by it."
"The step I heard was at the other end of the hall."
"I noticed when he came in after you fainted how silently he walked. He had soft slippers on. If one board creaked it would account for the single step you heard."
"It seems to me," argued Linda carefully, "that a great deal hangs on whether Cousin Amos's door was closed or open and whether Mr. Statlander was too. If both were open he could have been annoyed by the sound, and

Uncle Wiggily's Two Shots

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Look! Look!" shouted Baby Bunty. "Oh, boy! Oh! Oh, boy!" exclaimed Lulu Wibblewobble.
"It's a bear!" yelled Johnny Bushytail the squirrel. Surely enough it was a big, black, shaggy bear that had run out from behind the bank of snow where Uncle Wiggily and all the animal boys from the hollow stump school were playing the icicle game by throwing frozen spears at a target marked on the white drift.
As I told you in the story last night, the animal boys each had three spears, but none of them hit the bullseye.

"Somebody hit me!"
Then came Uncle Wiggily's turn to have three shots. The rabbit gentleman's first icicle spear went away over the top of the snowbank and everybody laughed until their sides ached. Shaggy bear ran out from behind the white drift.
"Wow! Wow! Wow!" howled the bear. "Somebody hit me—in the nose with a sharp spear at the target!"
"That was my icicle shot!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "My first one."
"Did you throw your first icicle at the bear on purpose?" asked the Lady Mouse Teacher of the Hollow Stump School, who had let all her pupils out before recess to watch the icicle game.
"Yes," said Mr. Longears with a laugh, "I hit the bear on purpose and I also hit him on the nose with my first shot."
"I'll say you did!" howled the bear. "Oh, wow! How it hurts!" and away he ran down the hill.
"Just as I was going to throw my first icicle at the bear," said Uncle Wiggily to Miss Mouse and her pupils, "I saw the bear hiding behind the snowbank ready to rush out and bite somebody."
"You say that!" murmured Miss Mouse, shivering a bit, for she was a timid little thing.
"So," said Uncle Wiggily, "instead of throwing my first icicle spear at the bear on purpose, I saw the bear sneaking over the top. I threw at him and I'm glad I hit him with my first shot."
"I am also glad," murmured Miss Mouse, trying to stand in front of all her girl pupils to protect them. But as she was very little she could not do much in this way. "But what are you going to do with your other two shots, Mr. Wiggily?" she asked.
"I'll show you!" cried Mr. Longears. "I'll show you. Here is my second shot!" and he picked up another icicle spear and threw it.
"Ho! Ho! You missed the target that time!" quacked Jimmie the duck.
"Yes, but what he hit!" cried Baby Bunty.
With that, out from behind the snowbank target ran the Wolf.
"Ow! Ow! Ow!" howled the Wolf. "Oh, my eye! My eye!" and he held one paw over his eye and went running away on three legs. "Somebody hit me in the eye with a chunk of ice!"
"That was my second icicle shot!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I saw you hiding behind the snowbank, Mr. Wolf, where the bear was waiting to jump out and bite some of the children. But now you can't bite any more. Ha! Ha!"
"No! No! I can't bite any more! My eye is too sore!" howled the Wolf.
"You still have one shot left, Uncle Wiggily!" said Miss Mouse, who was growing braver and not shivering so much.
"Yes, one more shot left!" said the rabbit. Again he threw an icicle spear at the snowbank.
"Missed again!" barked Peetie Bow. "The puppy dog boy."
"No, Uncle Wiggily didn't miss!" yelled Baby Bunty. "He hit the Fox!"
Surely enough, out from behind the snowbank ran the Puzzy Fox, holding one paw on his left ear.
"Somebody whammed me with a snowball!" he howled.
"No, it was my icicle spear!" said Uncle Wiggily. "I saw you hiding there after your two friends, the other Bad Chap, ran away." said the rabbit. "I saved my third shot for you, Mr. Fox. Have you had enough?"
"Oh, yes! Oh, yes! I've had enough. I think you treated me very rough!" howled the Fox and away he ran on three paws holding the other paw over his ear where the bunny's icicle spear had nicked him.
"Well, I guess that will be all for to-day," spoke Uncle Wiggily as he dusted some snowflakes off his fur coat. For it had started to storm.
"It was clever of you!" murmured Miss Mouse.
"And now may we girls have some shots in the icicle game?" quacked Lulu Wibblewobble the duck.
"Not now, my dears," answered Mr. Longears. "It is time you went back to school. If all you want back in school and the boys studied their lessons, very well. And in the next story if the automobile will let the garage man have one of its tires to make a pair of rubbers for the football. I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's snowball fight."

current successes for her reading matter. "But I still don't see."
"Wake up, Binkie! Marvin tried to get in there, didn't he?"
"Oh—yes—"
"And you felt there was something more than rage against Cousin Amos? Sort of apprehension, you said—"
"That's so. Oh, Tom, I see it, I see it!"
Of course! Why he was afraid you'd talked together, why he wanted to prevent—
"What Cousin Amos was ragging him about—but how did he find it?"
"If it was in the house, that man would find it. Particularly if he could use it to embarrass us or a guest. Yes, I think we've hit it. Somewhere the old man got hold of it—"
"And then it's up to Marvin—"
"And Marvin was agitated at this early evening coming to light—probably thought it lived down by this time—and feeling as he does about you—"

Five Noted Writers

RUDYARD KIPLING
Among the verses which have impressed me are those in a short poem by Rudyard Kipling, which includes these words:
"If I were hanged on the highest hill,
Mother o' mine, oh, mother o' mine,
I know whose love would follow me still,
Mother o' mine, oh, mother o' mine."
If you can keep your head when all about you are losing theirs, and blaming it on you,
If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can wait—and not be tired by waiting;
If, being lied about, don't deal in lies;
If you can watch the things you gave your life to broken;
And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools—
If you can fill the unforgiving minute,
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run—
Yours is the earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a man, my son."
While he was living in India, Kipling wrote famous short stories which were printed under the title of "Plain Tales From the Hills." Kipling is also the author of "The Jungle Book," "Just So Stories," and "Captains Courageous." He was born in 1865. His best work was done before the outbreak of the World War. Remarkable Progress!

The record of 1932

"We built our business for days like these."

Never in the 58 years of London Life history have we had a more gratifying report than for the troublesome year 1932!

Success A Measure of Service

1 More people than ever before bought London Life policies for future provision for themselves, their families and business interests. The new insurance purchased from the London Life amounted to

One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,463,094)
—an increase of $5,361,184 over 1931

2 The security of the Company, which stands back of all policies has been further strengthened because

The Assets have been written down where necessary or reserves set up to fully take care of depreciation. The Assets now amount to $77,558,312, an increase of $5,336,895.

The Policy Reserves are greater by $5,126,740 than required by the Dominion Insurance Law.

The Free Surplus on the Company's own high standard has been increased to $3,111,351. This surplus is in addition to (1) all special policy and investment reserves set up in this and former years, and (2) the full provision made for all profits accruing and profits due to policyholders in 1933.

3 The Income amounted to $19,690,248—a substantial gain over 1931.

4 The funds of the Company are never idle. They are kept fully invested in non-speculative enterprises, chiefly government and municipal bonds and first mortgages on improved real estate. The increase in our business has meant, therefore, a correspondingly greater contribution through such investments to the welfare of the country.

Dividends to policyholders will be on the same high scale throughout the year. To purchase London Life participating policies is to share in the Company's success.

A delightful party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Styan, Central Saanich Road, Monday evening, in honor of their son, Harry, who celebrated his eleventh birthday. Games and contests were enjoyed by the guests and a dainty supper was served. A prettily-decorated birthday cake with eleven candles holding the place of honor on the supper table. The guests were: Harry Styan, John Young, Eric Goodwin, Ewan Routine, Dickie Spooner and Lawrie Patterson.

Master Eric Goodwin of Victoria has been spending several days at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Styan.

FLU

Demands
A Real Remedy

Inhalants, ointments and gargles may bring relief sometimes, but when FLU is striking victims down-right and left you want a sure-fire remedy that never fails. That's BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE.
BUCKLEY'S is not a mere soothing syrup that temporarily deadens the symptoms, but a secret blend of medicinal ingredients that loosens phlegm, stops the cough, spreads a moist healing film over the throat membranes, and rids the system of excess acids. Get a bottle to-day at your druggists. It may mean all the difference between a slight cold—better to-morrow—and a serious attack of flu or pneumonia.
BUCKLEY'S acts like a flash—a single sip proves it.
For your health's sake demand the genuine. Cheap substitutes are numerous. (Adv.)

To Owners of Hot-air Heated Houses

HAVE YOU A COLD ROOM
IN YOUR HOUSE?

IF certain rooms in your house are hard to heat—
IF you are wasting fuel unnecessarily—
IF heat is slow in reaching all parts of your house—
IF occupants suffer from colds, due to chills, impure air, dust, etc.—

Evangelist Settles $544,500
Court Action By Signing
Movie Contract

Los Angeles, Jan. 20.—Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, the evangelist, is to become the heroine of a religious motion picture.
A motion picture of several lawsuits, the evangelist Wednesday settled two of the biggest court actions pending against her, aggregating $544,500 damages, by agreeing to fulfill a contract in motion pictures as held by J. Roy Stewart, film producer. The picture will be made after her return from a world tour.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

A cameraman unacquainted with the universal superstition of stars of both stage and screen in regard to peacocks induced Kay Francis, co-starred with William Powell in Warner Bros. picture, "One Way Passage," now at the Columbia Theatre, to visit an aviary near the studio, thinking he would have a wonderful background for off-stage stills.
When he backed her up against a peacock with its beautiful tail spread, however, she took one look at the bird and fled, as from a plague.

DUMBELLS IN CHANGED SHOW

Al. Plunkett Carries Anti-depression Theme in "Keep Smiling"

The Dumbbells mixed an anti-depression recipe for their change of show at the Royal Victoria Theatre yesterday evening and successfully laughed away the cares of an enthusiastic audience for the night.
Tiny, blonde Audrey Carline, sparkled throughout the whole programme and displayed versatility which made her a general favorite. The two popular comedians, Pat Rafferty and Scotty Morrison left a trail of chuckles and titters throughout the house and the whole company ably assisted in bringing out the theme, "Keep Smiling."

The show continues to-night and to-morrow night and after a week's interval the Dumbbells will return to the Royal for another stand in which two full shows will be presented.
Al. Plunkett carried the theme of the show with solos entitled "Keep on Smiling" and "Let's Have a Party," characterized by allusions to present-day ills. He also appeared in a skit "Too True to be Good," which looked into the future to the day when men will do the housework and women go to business and scored an instantaneous success.

Pat Rafferty and Scotty Morrison, the irrepressible humorists, punctuated the whole show with their wisecracks, crazy dances and ludicrous antics, eventually combining in "The Dolly Sisters," which requires no explanation, those who have seen the pair take to the stage, and the audience was called a satire and it was, screamingly so. Pat also got a great hand when he discarded the ludicrous for the dramatic and gave an impersonation of the late Albert Chevalier, singing "My Old Dutch." Scotty's checked pants and twisted cane appeared again in "Oh, Gee, Oh Gosh."

Curley Nixon, as usual, ably supported the two wisecrackers, and in addition, carried several parts with the chorus of Dumbbells. The chorus, incidentally, appeared to best advantage in "Chilliwack Capers," which produced a riot of laughter.
Don Romaine, the dapper impersonator, had Scott Plunkett as the foil for most of his chatter, but appeared alone in a rendition of "Lord, You Made the Night Too Long," emphasized by special lighting effects.

As in the first show Audrey Carline carried the feminine part with a display of talent which left little to be desired, whether dancing, singing, or talking. With Curley Nixon, in the second part of the programme, she brought the house down with a "dumbbell act" and a dashing, sparkling personality throughout the show.

CAPITOL THEATRE

"The Devil is Driving" at the Capitol Theatre will continue its showing until Saturday.
Action of the majority of the picture is set in a New York garage, ostensibly a place of storage for cars; in reality only a "front" for a gang which specializes in stolen automobiles and operates a luxurious speakeasy on the top floor.
Lowe, an easy-going wisecracker, is a mechanic employed in the place. Miss Gibson, whose gift of gab is equal to Lowe's, is naturally drawn toward him, as he is to her.
But Lowe's easy good-nature vanishes suddenly when the gang and its usually injures his little nephew, and when the boy's father, seeking revenge, is brutally murdered. Then, with the assistance of Miss Gibson, he goes on a rampage that brings breathless, dramatic results.

DOMINION THEATRE

Most alluring of the many gowns worn by Clara Bow in "Call Her Savage," Fox romantic drama now playing at the Dominion Theatre, is what stylists have termed the "anatomical silhouette," a daring gown worn without foundation garments of any kind. The gown was designed by David Cox.

Folks Past 40
Should Read This

If you are troubled with a burning sensation, functional bladder weakness, frequent daily annoyances, getting-up-nights, dull pains in back, lower abdomen and down through groins—you should try the amazing value of Dr. Spethworth's "Uratabs" at once and see what a wonderful difference they make! If this grand old formula of a well-known physician brings you the swift and satisfying comfort it has brought to dozens of others, you surely will be thankful and very well pleased. If it does not satisfy, the druggist that supplied you with "Uratabs" is authorized to return your money on the first box purchased. This gives you a full 10 days' test of "Uratabs" without risk of cost unless pleased with results. If you would know the joys of peaceful, restful sleep and normal healthy bladder action, start this test to-day. Any good druggist can supply you. (Adv.)

Where To Go To-night

In presenting "Too True to be Good" at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Saturday, Maurice Colbourne and Barry Jones will give local theatregoers George Bernard Shaw's latest and most provocative play.
Characters in the great Irish playwright's latest play include a hypochondriac rich girl, who tires of being ill, her nurse who renounces the social obligations thrust upon her, a preaching burglar, a colonel, a Napoleonic private, a sergeant and an atheist.

The part of the burglar is played by Barry Jones, and the atheist is played by Maurice Colbourne. The nurse is played by Miss Joan Irons and the rich girl by Miss Maisie Durrell, others in the cast including Grace Lane as the first, but foolish, mother, and June Lawson, C. Haviland-Burke, Stanley Groome and others.
"Too True to be Good" is a topical play, dealing with the problems of today, written of and for youth, taking its digs at the League of Nations, at the British army traditions and at the post-war generation generally.
Mail orders are now being filled in the order of their receipt.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Jackie Merkle who is appearing on the stage every afternoon and evening at the Capitol Theatre is only five years old.
Jackie is a most unusual child. Beautiful and well formed, he is normal in all respects, except that he has a very remarkably alert mind. He is too young to attend school and thus can neither read nor write, but he is able to talk when a year old and now speak in Yiddish, Hungarian, Russian and German, as well as English. Jackie has been doing this sort of entertaining for about nine months and during that time has appeared in some of the leading theatres of America.

ANIMAL FILM
OPENS TO-DAY

Empire Theatre Is Showing
Sensational Picture "Trailing the Killer"

This is the opening day of the week's engagement at the Empire Theatre of the sensational film "Trailing the Killer."
Cameras clicked for an entire year in the wilds, and hundreds of thousands of feet of film were exposed. It has all been condensed into one hour's entertainment packed with the entire gamut of human emotions, despite the fact that the leading players are animals, from frogs to mountain lions and wildcats.
The sequence is perfect, but incident follows incident so rapidly that it would require columns of space to narrate the entire story. Hours and hours of waiting and watching by camera-men carefully hidden in the wilds, have produced a flash, here and there, more poignant and gripping than any carefully rehearsed incident played by human characters.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Dieterle was brought to Hollywood to direct foreign language versions of Warner-First National pictures, but revealed such an unusual directorial talent that he was transferred and given English pictures to direct. His first was the well-remembered "The Last Flight," starring Richard Barthelmess, and his second was Marilyn

COUNCIL HAS FIRST MEETING

Oak Bay to Get Down to Work on Estimates; Committees Appointed

Members of the Oak Bay Council will shortly grapple with the work of setting the estimates for the coming year. Annually the estimates take about three months of hard work on the part of all members of the council. At yesterday afternoon's meeting the council, the first with Reeve Mayhew in the chair, it was stated the council would do all in its power to keep the tax rate at twenty-seven mills.

The committees for 1933 were named as follows: Finance, Councillors A. D. Crease, chairman, Richard Angus and R. R. Taylor; public works, Councillors T. J. Goodlake, chairman, W. H. Mearns and William Ellis.

It was announced that Councillor Crease would be acting reeve, in the absence of Mr. Mayhew. A resolution of condolence to Premier Toimie and members of the family in the death of Mrs. Toimie, was passed on the motion of Councillors Crease and Goodlake.

Robert Oliphant was welcomed to membership in the Revelers Club at the semi-monthly meeting in the Cairo Coffee Shop Wednesday evening. Mr. Oliphant, new secretary of the club, took over his duties. A committee was selected to arrange a valentine dance shortly.

A request for improvement of Dunsmuir Road from W. T. Phillips, was approved by the Esquimalt Council yesterday evening and the engineer was instructed to see the required work was done.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, as a body, yesterday evening inspected the exhibits at the Provincial Seed Fair at the Crystal Garden.

A decided improvement was reported this morning in the condition of E. D. Johnson, Deputy Minister of Finance, who was taken ill suddenly Wednesday.

The annual tax sale lands by law for 1933 will be introduced at the next meeting of the Esquimalt Council, according to notice of motion given at the meeting yesterday evening.

Plans showing streets in urban Saanich proposed to be served with gas by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited were before the municipal council yesterday evening and were approved.

Commendation of the prompt action of Chief of Police V. Peckhold and the Esquimalt Fire Department which had saved his home from total loss by fire, was contained in a letter from Chas. D. Dodsworth, read at the Esquimalt Council meeting yesterday evening.

Reeve Crouch, with members of the Saanich council, school board and police commission, will attend the morning service at St. Mark's Church, Boleyn Road, on Sunday. The arrangements were made yesterday evening at the instance of Councillor W. R. Woods.

Rev. J. H. A. Warr will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Y.M.C.A. tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. All former members of the Y.M.C.A. organization as well as members and two boys from each Tuxis group in the city are invited to attend.

Greetings from kindred societies all over the world are beginning to pour in to the Bund Club Y.M.C.A. on the occasion of the anniversary which they are celebrating on Tuesday, January 24, New York, London, Mauchline, and Melbourne are among those already represented.

A communication from Miss Mabel Mayhew to the Esquimalt Council yesterday evening stating that she had fallen on a poorly repaired sidewalk in the district and believed she could claim damages from the municipality for injuries sustained, was referred to the municipal solicitor.

A communication from Thos. J. Brunson, announcing he had recently found he had paid road tax for himself and two members of his family twice during 1932, and asking that one payment be considered as that for 1933, was referred to the municipal clerk by the Esquimalt Council.

Declaring that every citizen of Saanich mourned with Premier Toimie the passing of his wife and helpmate, Reeve Crouch of Saanich yesterday evening called the municipal council to pay a standing tribute of sympathy. A letter of condolence was ordered sent to Premier Toimie.

Through A. E. Ames & Co., the Esquimalt Council will turn in $1,000 worth of C.N.R. bonds and purchase with the funds from that deal $5,000 worth of their own Seawall Loan debentures, making a saving of $606 to the municipality. It was decided at the council meeting yesterday evening.

Great improvement was shown today in the condition of G. H. Pullen, municipal clerk for Esquimalt, who suffered a heart attack at the council meeting yesterday evening. Although advised to remain at home to-day, it was stated Mr. Pullen intended to resume his duties at the municipal hall.

This evening at 8 o'clock in the Oaklands United Church, corner of Burton Avenue and Gosworth Road, Rev. E. F. Church will give the story of "The Three Wise Men" (Henry Van Dyke), illustrated by lantern pictures. An invitation is extended to everyone to attend. The proceeds will go to the Sunday school funds.

No residents of Esquimalt will be permitted to cut trees on lands owned by the municipality without the consent of the council. This stand was taken on reports of alleged abuses in cutting trees for firewood in various parts of the district made at the meeting of the Esquimalt Council yesterday evening.

The British Columbia Historical Association will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the Provincial Library. The speaker will be Judge F. W. Hovey, New Westminster. His subject will be "The Collins Overland Telegraph Scheme," the attempted carrying out of which forms an interesting part of the history of the province. Admission is free and visitors are cordially invited.

The story of the painting "The Other Wise Man" by Henry Van Dyke, will be described by Rev. E. F. Church at a meeting in Oaklands United Church, corner of Burton Avenue and Gosworth Road, at 8 o'clock this evening. The public is invited to the lecture, which will be illustrated by lantern slides. A collection will be taken in aid of the Sunday school funds.

Archdeacon Laycock's illustrated travelogue which he gave at the Children's Recreation Room yesterday evening was much enjoyed by a capacity audience. A large number of views of England and Switzerland, as well as of Victoria, were shown. Others who contributed to the programme were Miss Ora Pearson, recitations; Mrs. Noel, soprano solos, and Miss Conway, piano solo.

Leslie W. McVittie, facing three charges of defrauding Letitia J. E. Lees, was remanded to the City Police Court this morning until next Wednesday by consent of counsel, H. A. Beckwith appears for the defence and C. L. Harrison is prosecuting. Charges already laid against the accused are: Inducing the plaintiff to execute a mortgage with intent to defraud; inducing the plaintiff to execute a conveyance, with intent to defraud; and with obtaining $500 by false pretences. Mr. Harrison told the court another charge would be laid.

W. H. M. Haldane, counsel for A. J. Gray, after a hearing to-day for an order from Judge Lampman in County Court to restrict Hindus from removing timber for cordwood from the Gray property in the Highland district, until adequate payments on the property were made. E. H. M. Foot, representing the other side, told the court the property had been inherited by Mr. Gray, who said he was glad to get rid of it when he received an offer for $700 from J. W. Archer, who in turn sold the timber for $1,100 to Hindus. Mr. Haldane said the timber was being taken off faster than payments were being made. Mr. Foot said the clearing of the land was making it more valuable for sheep and turkey ranching. "I never noticed that cordwood cutting was good land clearing," said the judge, issuing the injunction order.

LAWYERS BATTLE ON GAS PRICE

Right of Station Operators to Cut Being Fought Before Court of Appeal Here

Vancouver Woman Charges Conspiracy By Oil Companies; They Deny Injury

The gasoline price fight in British Columbia, involving the question of whether oil companies have the right to fix retail prices and refuse supplies to any dealer who refuses to abide by their price orders, was to-day transferred to the Court of Appeal here.

J. A. MacInnes, counsel for Elizabeth Ellen Patterson, gasoline station operator of 2804 Main Street, Vancouver, appeared to the higher court against the orders of Chief Justice Morrison of the Supreme Court of Vancouver, which negatived her suit charging conspiracy in price fixing and supply control against the Home Oil Distributors, General Oil Company, Imperial Oil, Esso, Sunoco, and other oil companies. The retail merchants' association of Canada and George R. Matthews, VARIOUS PRICES

Mr. MacInnes explained how in Vancouver last September stations began to raise their gasoline prices, cutting from 32c to as low as 28c a gallon. Thereupon the oil companies, "desirous of prohibiting station selling at a price less than 31c a gallon entered into a combine to control the fixing of the retail price of all stations at 31c a gallon," he said, cutting off offenders from getting any gas from any company as in her case.

"All the companies maliciously conspired to prevent her from carrying on her business as retail distributor of gasoline and selling it at any price other than that fixed by the defendants," Mr. MacInnes claimed. "They also conspired to compel the Home Oil Distributors Limited to make a breach of its written contract of September 14, 1932."

Facing Mr. MacInnes at the counsel table was an array of the prominent lawyers in British Columbia to fight for the oil companies, including J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., E. C. Mayers, Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., and G. C. Beston.

Following Mr. MacInnes, Mr. Farris entered upon his argument this morning and was continuing when the court adjourned at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

"Nothing could be more bona fide than this agreement," Mr. Farris said in his defence of the oil companies. "You cannot point to that document and say there is anything in it to injure this lady."

Mr. Farris is continuing this afternoon and the other lawyers for the oil companies will follow him in addressing the court.

FARM SCIENCE EXPERTS MEET

Reports on Diseases and Soils Given Provincial Agriculture Committee

The provincial agricultural committee of British Columbia met to-day in the Parliament Buildings and discussed reports of sub-committees. Those present included Dean F. M. Clement, Dr. G. G. Moe and Prof. H. M. King, representing the University of British Columbia; Gordon M. Stewart of Calgary, Dr. William Newton of the Sidney Experimental Farm, and W. H. Hicks of the Agassiz Experimental Farm, representing the Dominion government, and J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, and Henry Rive, dairy commissioner, and W. H. Robertson, provincial horticulturist, representing the provincial government.

Reports were presented by the following: Range-pasture and feed problems by R. L. Palmer of the Summerland Experimental Farm; animal diseases by Dr. A. E. Bruce of Sidney, and raspberry committee by Dr. Newton. Dean Clement presented a report on the economic and marketing committee, and Dr. MacLachlan of Summerland wrote on the advisability of forming a special soil and fertilizer committee, his recommendation being adopted.

FIRE APPARATUS NEEDED SOON

Chief Reports Aerial Ladder and Combination Wagon Near End of Service

Replacement of the aerial ladder truck used by the city fire department as well as a combination wagon will be required in the near future, Fire Chief Vernon Stewart warns in his annual report to the City Council filed to-day.

"I would recommend," he says, "that provision be made for the purchase of an aerial ladder truck in the near future, as the one at present in use is beginning to show signs of wear."

The combination wagon, used at the Victoria West station, has been out of commission several times this year, the chief also points out. Provision must be made shortly to replace this piece of apparatus in order to keep the department up to requirements.

During the fire loss last year, the chief sets the total figure at $27,383.54. Property valued at $3,218,945 was threatened in the fires which occurred and they were covered by insurance to the extent of $1,284,844. The actual loss was therefore only a small fraction of the value of buildings threatened by flames.

The Victoria Real Estate Board to-day passed a standing vote of sympathy with Premier Toimie and family in their recent bereavement.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day

W. L. WOODHOUSE
JOYCE W. COLLINS
CONSTABLE TOM STEVENSON
JAMES BARBER

Constable Thomas Stevenson is celebrating his birthday to-day. Congratulations will be extended to the popular young member of the Victoria force.

He stars in police athletics, is a good boxer and a valuable man on the tug-of-war team for the force. He was born in Scotland and came to Victoria at an early age. He was educated at the Boys' Central School. Constable Stevenson is married and lives at 1911 Birch Street.

Len W. Woodhouse, 208 Central Avenue, bowed his way past another milestone to-day. He is a knight of the road, traveling for Boyle-Brown. Len was born in Donald, B.C., which is high up in the Rockies. He went overseas with a Montreal battalion and came to Victoria after the Great War. He played amateur baseball for a time, pitching for the Elks. He is a member of the Gyro Club, Fourstar, United Canadian Travelers and Marmos. He is married and has one son and one daughter.

Joyce W. Collins, 708 Craigflower Road, laughed off another birthday to-day. He is a native son and has spent much of his life in Victoria West, having been born a few doors from where he at present resides. Joyce is a great fisherman and is one of the best anglers in town. He served in France with the 51st Battery, C.F.A., as a driver and one of his horses, "Jiggs," had the reputation of being the worst actor in the 14th Brigade. Joyce was the only man who could tame "Jiggs." Joyce is married and has one daughter.

James Barber is receiving congratulations to-day on his twenty-ninth birthday. James is in partnership with his brother, Leslie, at the Johnson Street Bridge station and is a member of the Onwages Bible Class. He is single and resides with his parents at 542 Ellice Street.

Quick Action Saves Woman

W. J. Carter Pulls Wife From Path of Approaching Car, But She Loses One Shoe

"Mrs. W. J. Carter, 2644 1/2, Quadra Street, was saved by her husband yesterday evening from serious injury in a traffic accident, according to a police report.

Mr. Carter pulled his wife from the path of an approaching car in the nick of time, the report said. Her shoe was pulled off by one wheel of the machine, but she was not hurt.

GRACE CHURCH MADE PROGRESS

Congregation Held Annual Dinner and Meeting Wednesday

The annual meeting of Grace Lutheran Church was held on Wednesday evening. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock and the unusually large attendance indicated the progress being made by the church.

The auxiliary societies all reported much activity during the year and the report of young people's work was especially gratifying.

Officers elected were: Secretary, C. Raafshuis; financial secretary, N. Nelson; church clerk, K. G. Ingvald; re-elected, C. Raafshuis and I. Kuisinen; delegate to Synod, L. Schmelz, alternate, A. Nelson.

Following committees were appointed: Altar, Mrs. J. Westcott, Mrs. R. Fuller and Miss Ann Miller; service, R. Carlson, H. Carlson, S. Rasmussen, C. Raafshuis, V. Marjaniemi and F. Loeffler; music, Mrs. T. A. Jansen, Miss Albertine Miller and Miss Elsie Sama.

DR. HENRY TORY EXPECTED HERE

President of National Research Council Will Preside Over Science Congress

Dr. Henry M. Tory, president of the National Research Council of Canada, who will preside over the Pacific Science Congress which will be held in Victoria and Vancouver next June, will arrive on the Coast from Ottawa next week and is expected to visit this city.

On Wednesday next Dr. Tory will address the Vancouver Canadian Club on "The National Research Council and the Pacific Science Congress."

He has been president of the National Research Council for the last decade and director of the National Research Laboratories since 1927. Since 1929 he has been president of the League of Nations' Society for Canada.

While on his present tour Dr. Tory is discussing with representatives of western governments progress made in investigations that the National Research Council has undertaken.

One is a study of regulations governing theatre projection rooms and the first hazard of nitro-cellulose sound films, which is proceeding at the request of the British Columbia, Manitoba and Ontario governments. He will also take up here the question of testing domestic oil burners.

SEES NEED FOR CHANGE

Municipal Taxation Methods Must Be Altered, Says Mayor Leeming

Breakdown Inevitable Under Present System, Realtors Told

Declaring the system of municipal taxation in the province must be altered to prevent a breakdown in the whole method, Mayor Leeming this afternoon presented some forceful views to the Victoria Real Estate Board on the question of property taxes.

The mayor quoted figures gained in a survey of tax areas which showed the burden of taxation for relief was falling heavily on unemployed who owned their own homes.

"The system must be changed or a breakdown is inevitable," he said. "In Victoria we are approaching the point where the new system of taxation is being broken. The question is, are we going to face it at the beginning or let it take its course and collapse?"

Taxation on capital values was equivalent to confiscation, the mayor declared.

"We call ourselves one of the conservative provinces of Canada, but we impose one of the most confiscatory taxation policies possible," he said.

The mayor also spoke on the subject of relief, and in answer to a remark by one of the board members declared that the unemployed in Victoria are not on the dole. The initial system of direct relief outlined by the Dominion Government had been nothing short of a dole, he said, but British Columbia had opposed the policy and had secured permission to demand work in return for relief given.

At the present time Victoria received work in exchange for 65 per cent of the relief handed out. Cash was given in return for work, as required by the labor laws.

ONE DRAWS WITH STANFORD IN CALIFORNIA; OTHERS OPPOSE SASKATCHEWAN AND MANITOBA

Special To The Times

Vancouver, Jan. 20.—Three major debates by University of British Columbia teams are scheduled to take place this evening, when speakers representing the Point Grey institution engage California State University at Berkeley, the University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon, and University of Manitoba at the Hotel Vancouver.

Yesterday evening the U.B.C. team in California met Stanford at Palo Alto and argued to no decision. Representing the British Columbia "U" in the Sunshine State are Neil Perry, prominent Victoria student, and Victor Dryer, another well-known young man. They are supporting the affirmative of the subject, "Resolved that western civilization must follow the Moscow road."

Mr. Perry and Mr. Dryer met the touring British University debaters in Vancouver last November and were defeated by a small popular margin following a deadlock of the judges.

In Saskatoon are Nathan Nemetz and Ernest Brown, both of Vancouver, debating for the McGowan Series trophy. They will support the affirmative of the question whether "This house disapproves of the growing tendency of governments to invade the rights of individuals."

The same subject will receive treatment by the home team arguing against Manitoba, Bill Whitmer, president of the U.B.C. Alma Mater Society, and Frank Miller will support the British Columbia side. Judges for this debate are Mr. Justice Forbes, Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, Mr. Justice Forin and Reginald Tupper, Vancouver barrister and solicitor.

CHURCH HEARS GOOD REPORTS

In Spite of Trying Year James Bay United Made Substantial Progress

The "Y" room of James Bay United Church was filled to capacity on Wednesday evening for the congregational supper and annual meeting. In spite of the difficult times through which the congregation is passing owing to the great amount of unemployment in James Bay the reports of many of the departments showed increases in membership and finances and a greater amount of money had been raised for missions than for a number of years.

Plans were discussed for increasing the membership of the church and its effectiveness in the community.

Justin Gilbert acted as congregational secretary and the tables were presided over by the members of the Ladies' Aid under the direction of Mrs. G. Kirkendale.

Votes of thanks were passed to the leaders of the departments for their co-operation, and to the pastor, Rev. W. R. Brown, for his leadership during the year.

Mrs. Chris Wade rendered two violin solos and the meeting concluded with the National Anthem. Rev. Mr. Brown Presided.

The board of stewards, with H. W. Davey as chairman, and Ed White as envelope secretary, was re-elected.

Controversy in Test Cricket Still Causes Local Comment

Victoria Veteran Speaks in Defence of Larwood's Bowling

Morenz and Joliat Have Brilliant Scoring Records in N.H.L.

MUCH DISCUSSION is still taking place among local cricketers on the strained feelings between the English and Australian players in the current test series. With the official protest of the Australian Board of Control against the "leg-break" of Larwood now in the hands of Marylebone Cricket Club officials it is interesting to hear the opinion of one of Victoria's leading cricketers, an all-round veteran of the game who played for this city and for British Columbia in many intercity and interprovincial matches. He bases his comment on what he observed while representing the province against the touring Australians last year.

The Australian aces, Bradman and Woodfull, and of course many other first-class cricketers, he observed, use their bodies against a leg-break bowler when they first face the bowling and are not certain of the pitch and twist. There is, of course, no leg before wicket on a breaking ball and batsmen at times find their bodies better defensive weapons than their bats. Bradman, the Victoria cricketer noticed, even used his body against some of the leg breaks of George Wilkinson when he first faced him here, for the delivery of the local trundler was puzzling.

Woodfull, he continued, was known for the use of his body against leg breaks. But he felt, most uncomfortable than usual when batting against Larwood, because the Englishman was so fast that anyone would think twice before dodging some of his balls with the body, even though it might involve saving a wicket. The alternative, of course, was to stand back and play only with the bat.

It was inevitable and unfortunate that such terrific bowling should occasionally result in high and nasty bounces. The Victoria cricketer added, and owed all his effectiveness to the fact. If he showed more consideration for the Australians' bodies and bowled on the off wicket, the result would be that the batsman would leave his bat in the air and he would be able to shoulder high. Larwood had to make the batsmen play him, for when the bowling was unusually fast the slightest tip by the man at bat resulted in the ball careening off and often landing in the aversive hands of the fielders.

It was too bad, he thought, that the protest had been made. England, he said, had a reputation for backing down in such matters and he half-expected to hear that Larwood had been told to modify his tactics and bowl more on the off stump. County batsmen in England to-day, he added, had played Larwood for over a decade without protesting and in any case it was quite within the power of the Australian umpire to discipline Larwood if he considered his method was objectionable.

Once again that famous partnership of Howie Morenz and Aurel Joliat had been dissolved by Coach "Newsy" Lalonde of the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League. Apart from the possibilities of Lalonde's experiment, in creating new attacking lines, the main interest of the shift centres on the innumerable exploits engineered by the combination of the pair.

Morenz has scored 230 goals, made 106 assists for a total of 336 points while his team was playing 358 games. Not discounting time off for injuries and penalties, Morenz has averaged 9385 scoring points a game. Joliat's similar average being 7402. In penalties, the 140-pound "Quetto" has averaged 1.687 minutes a game as against the 1.170 minutes by the heavier (170 pounds) but faster Morenz.

Saskatoon Quakers Turn Back Humboldt

Saskatoon, Sask., Jan. 20.—Saskatoon Quakers defeated Humboldt Indians, 2 to 1, in a northern Saskatchewan amateur hockey league game at the Stadium here yesterday evening. Tony Hemmerling scored both Quakers' goals, one on a pass from Ray Watkins, and the other unassisted. Phil Bestler bagged the Humboldt counter on a pass from Hec Blair.

CHICAGO HAWKS TURN ON AMERKS

Toronto Leafs Hurdle Boston 3 to 0; Ottawa Beaten 7 to 3 By Maroons

After absorbing three crushing defeats within ten days, the last a 5 to 0 shellacking from New York Rangers, Chicago Black Hawks suddenly turned around yesterday evening and thumped New York Americans 6 to 0. The trailing outfit of the circuit's American division climbed to a position five points back of Toronto Maple Leafs, division leaders.

Leafs took advantage of the situation by beating Boston Bruins 3 to 0 with a three-period drive at Toronto that netted them all three tallies. At New York the Rangers slipped up to first place in the American section with a 2 to 1 win over Montreal Canadiens. Detroit was idle.

Leafs returned to form with a 3 to 2 victory over Ottawa Senators. Hawks went after Americans in lively fashion. Johnny Gottselig and Little Mush Merch, a couple of boys Al Rutsche polished up and sent forth a few years ago from his Regina, Pats camp, scored in the first period.

COOK SCORES PAIR
Tommy Cook pushed a pair of shots past Roy Worters in the second period and Roger Jenkins got one, Paul Thompson getting a single in the third. Boston almost lulled Toronto's champions to sleep in two periods of such tight checking that the Leafs were slowed down to a walk. But Happy Day set the wheels going with a single-handed counter early in the third session and the boys jumped to the attack in earnest. Harvey Jackson and Harold Cotton bringing the goal total to three before the period ended. Canadiens' penalties mid-way through the second period enabled New York's Cooks—Bill and Bun—to hand out defeat to the hopefuls of New York.

While the Frenchmen struggled short-handed, Bun Cook shoveled in the first goal on a double pass from Bill and Frank Boucher and a minute later Bill rapped in one himself on Boucher's assist. Later on Rangers were weakened by a penalty and Howie Morenz scored the single Canadian goal.

SEVEN GOALS SCORED
The front part of the deluge at Montreal was in the first period, when seven goals were scored, five by Maroons. Senators reduced the lead to 5 to 3 with the only goal of the second period, but the Redmen got an additional two in the third.

Jimmy Ward nailed three goals and the rest were distributed among Baldy Northcott, Foulmer, Haynes, Hooley Smith and Dave Trotter.

Toronto, Jan. 20.—Toronto Maple Leafs yesterday evening shut out the mighty Bruins of Boston, 3 to 0 in a penalty-sided third-period, scoring all three in the first forty minutes. The win kept the Leafs' margin intact at the top of the National Hockey League's Canadian section and left the Bruins lagging in their effort to keep pace with American section pacemakers.

Boston played a canny game in the first two periods and Lorne Chabot matched the performance of his rival goalie in turning back all menacing plays in the first forty minutes. A penalty to Marty Barry paved the way for Hec Day to hurdle through dejected Bruin ranks at the start of the third period for the first goal.

Vic Miley, Calgary product, recently acquired by the Bruins appeared only for a brief spell in the third period.

Fresno Welterweight and Jackie Fields Will Meet in Championship Match at San Francisco on Feb. 22; Naming of Referee Causes Argument

San Francisco, Jan. 20.—Selection of a referee was believed to be the only detail holding up a welterweight title match here February 22 between Jackie Fields, champion, and Young Corbett, Fresno.

Representatives of the champion and challenger and the matchmaker, Anell Hoffman, held two conferences here yesterday and agreed on all other terms, but the naming of a referee and an alternate.

TRE MOGULS MOVE TO GUARD RACE PUBLIC

Miami Jockey Club Regulations Require Absolute Identity of Entries

Officials Take Step to Prevent Such a Scandal as Occurred Last Year

Miami, Fla., Jan. 20.—Race patrons need not worry about any "ringers" being cut loose on them during the meeting of the Miami Jockey Club which opened yesterday.

Racing Secretary Joseph McLennan has incorporated a new rule in his meeting book designed to safeguard the interests of the public. Under the present code it will be absolutely impossible for any Pat Barrie Chrysties to fool the Hialeah Park officials as the crooks did last season.

A thoroughbred to become a starter must be identified beyond all chance of a substitution being made. Unless a horse is in the hands of a licensed trainer and has been identified to the satisfaction of the Miami stewards his entry will be refused.

The rule has a great many more ramifications than the present jockey club code. It places a direct responsibility upon the person or persons who help to establish the identification of any thoroughbred. "If any attempt at fraud is discovered, not only the owner and trainer of the horse in question will be ruled off the turf, but those who help fool the officials by identifying the animal before his entry was taken will find themselves under the ban."

The scandal which rocked the turf world last season at Miami never could have been put across had any of the Florida officials been on the job. It was carelessness on the part of a couple of those in charge which allowed the notorious crook, Pat Barrie Chrystie, to perpetrate his fraud.

CANCEL BONDS FOR PLAYERS

Duluth Merchants Take Action When Hockey Team Moved to Wichita, Kansas

Duluth, Jan. 20.—Duluth merchants yesterday requested local immigration officials to cancel the bonds of five hockey players admitted to this country from Canada to play with Duluth Hornets. The Merchants are bondsmen for the players. The action resulted from the transfer of the Duluth franchise of the American Hockey League to Wichita, Kansas.

The Merchants explained they sought to be relieved of the responsibility for the legal return to Canada of the players involved in the bonds.

The players were admitted for the sole purpose of playing for Duluth. Whether they will be permitted to play with Wichita rests with Washington immigration officials, the local immigration office said.

The players involved are Jack Leawick, "Gloomy" Leawick, Art Merrill, Syl Acaster and Billy Kendall.

SCOTTISH BELOW PAR

Injuries have greatly reduced the strength of the Scottish team and they have been unable to uphold their former position among the top teams in the league. However, they will be fighting desperately against their old opponents, the Bays, and should put up a good battle against the Bowling Club fifteen, which has developed into such a fine machine this season.

One or two changes have been made in the Bowling Club's line-up since the last game. Chris Usher has been moved up from back to take a place in the scrum, while Bill Latta holds down the position of last defence.

DUNN ON LINE
Jack Dunn has been taken out of the pack to fill in for Pete Turgoose in the three-quarter line. With him will be the club's regular, Joe Addison on the wing, and Hunnigan and Patrick inside. Buzz Brown will play five-eighths, with Murray as half. The scrum will be composed of Sprinkling, Pettigrew, Peard, de Blaquiere, Usher, Nixon and Goad.

The Scots will most probably be without the services of Larry Henderson, captain, who was crooked in the last rep game. Colgate is slated for full-back duty, with Chuck Copeland, Bern Kinsman, Bob Mabee and Ralph Kellogg on the three-quarter line. Bill Boorman will probably play five-eighths with Larry Robson at scrum half, A. Briggs, Sheap, Rockingham, Bruce Forbes, Ted May, Campbell Forbes, J. Briggs and Ray Grant are listed for positions in the scrum.

OTHER GAMES

In the other senior A encounter, Fifth Brigade will run up against the Navy at Oak Bay Park, while in the senior B section the Gunners' hopefuls will attack up against the rugged J.B.A. squad at the Causton grounds. The Garrison fifteen will take the field against Victoria College at Victoria High School and the Scottish will play the Navy at Work Point.

Kid Chocolate May Suffer Deportation

New York, Jan. 20.—Kid Chocolate's featherweight title defence against Sailor Tom Watson, British challenger, has been postponed one week, from January 27 to February 3, in the hope that the Cuban boxer, ordered deported yesterday from Key West, Fla., can straighten out his difficulties with immigration authorities.

Meanwhile, Madison Square Garden promoting the match, exerted every effort to save a title bout that had been widely ballyhooed through the recent "trial by jury" of the British champion to determine the extent of his fighting ability.

HOCKEY TEAMS DRAW

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 20.—Detroit Olympics and Syracuse Stars fought to a 2 to 2 tie in their International Hockey League match yesterday evening. Even a rough overtime period in which both teams tried desperately to score failed to break the deadlock.

Anderson Star In Oakland Victory

Los Angeles, Jan. 20.—With Shorty Anderson doing most of the work, the Oakland Ice hockey team defeated the Hollywood Millionaires 6 to 5 yesterday evening.

Anderson, the smallest player in the league, scored four goals. Buster Smith starred for the Millionaires, getting one goal and being credited with one assist. The teams play again Saturday night.

Colwood Hoopsters Will Meet Luxton

Two basketball games will be played at the Colwood Hall to-morrow evening. In the opening fixture the Colwood girls will oppose Luxton, while in the second engagement the home men's B squad will clash with Luxton. Dancing will follow the games.

English Football Teams Weakened For League Engagements

Injuries and Sickness Play Havoc With Many Clubs; Arsenal Stars Return

SCOTTISH TEAMS START CUP PLAY

Glasgow Rangers, Cup Holders, Meet Arbroath; Several Interesting Games

London, Jan. 20.—Cup play over for a week, English league teams will return to their schedules to-morrow, with clubs weakened by influenza and injuries. Hardly a team is without its list of invalids and many are hard hit. Numerous changes have been necessary in the sides picked for to-morrow's play, which may see even more upsets than cup ties provided a week ago.

The first division schedule provides the three top teams, Arsenal, Sheffield Wednesday and Aston Villa with opponents they should defeat but also furnishes several duels between closely-matched outfits near the head of the standing. Arsenal are at home to Manchester City, the Wednesday visit Blackburn and Aston entertain Liverpool.

Derby County and West Bromwich Albion probably will provide the most evenly matched encounter of the afternoon when they meet on the former's grounds. Sunderland and Everton, too, should stage a close fight, and the Runderside-Leeds United tussle is another that will draw interest.

ARSENAL STRENGTHENED

Still wondering how the lowly Wall team beat them last Saturday, Arsenal will turn out in better shape this week-end. Hume and Coleman are returning to the forward line and Cope is replacing Haggood on the back division.

Four slight injuries incurred in the cup replay against Bradford City Wednesday will force Aston Villa to change their side considerably. Mandley, Brown, Callaghan and Mort will be replaced by Wetkin, Kingston, Nisbet and Waring. The latter will make his first league appearance of the season.

In the game against Sheffield United, Chelsea will have the services of Law and Ferguson, who have been on the sick list.

In to-morrow's games, Bradford City have the edge over Tottenham Hotspur, who are only a point behind the second division leaders. Bradford City will take on Bradford, whom they should have little difficulty trimming, while the Hotspurs must travel to play Manchester United. Also, the Hotspurs are doubtful whether two of their men, Wheatley and Rowe, who are recovering from influenza, will be able to play.

Glasgow, Jan. 20.—Scottish soccer teams to-morrow start the annual cup hunt with a programme of twenty-three games between thirty league teams and eight outfits who have entered the fray.

Only two clashes bringing first division outfits together and three pitting second division teams against each other as down for decision. But interdivisional strife will provide interesting battles. Five first division and three second division sides are meeting the eight teams who are not from the league.

Hoping for a better fate than befell Newcastle United, the English cup holders, Glasgow Rangers take on Arbroath, a second division team, half way down the standing. They should have little difficulty eliminating them.

WEST ROAD TO PLAY RIBBONS

Champions of the senior A and B city league divisions, Blue Ribbons and West Road hoopers will clash in an exhibition game at West Road Hall to-morrow evening in what should prove a fixture of unusual interest.

In the second game Colwood seniors will play West Road intermediates and the programme will be brought to a close with a tussle between the J.B.A. Whites and Harmony girls. The first game will start at 7.30 o'clock.

A social and dance will follow the matches.

Londos in Draw With Joe Stecher

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Jim Londos, claimant to the heavyweight wrestling championship, got an hour's exercise and a draw in a match with Joe Stecher, Omaha, at the Coliseum yesterday evening. Londos weighed 200 pounds and Stecher 220.

Colwood Hoopsters Will Meet Luxton

Two basketball games will be played at the Colwood Hall to-morrow evening. In the opening fixture the Colwood girls will oppose Luxton, while in the second engagement the home men's B squad will clash with Luxton. Dancing will follow the games.

DICK IRVIN'S TOWNSMEN ARE JOY SPOILERS

Former Regina Men Having Plenty of Fun at Expense of Toronto Leafs' Coach

Toronto Club Has Dropped Several Games This Year Through Friends Efforts

Toronto, Jan. 20.—There would seem to be a conspiracy among these Regina chaps, members of clubs in the National Hockey League, to put on their best when opposed to Toronto Maple Leafs in Toronto, so as to make life miserable for their fellow-townsmen, Dick Irvin, coach of the Leafs.

First Rabbit McVie hit the Queen City with New York Americans and scored both goals in a 2 to 2 tie, which enabled Joe Simpson's crew to walk off with a point.

Next Monday March hobbled into town with Chicago Black Hawks and scored a goal that enabled the Hawks to beat Toronto, despite the fact that the Stanley Cup winners had seven-eighths of the play.

Then, to cap it all, Dick Irvin's buddy, George Hay, and former centre man of Regina Capitals, was brought back from Detroit Olympics to the Redwings and what the latter did to the Leafs in Toronto, on the first night of the all-Canada broadcast was just too bad.

And there are plenty of people who date Redwing's big improvement from the time George Hay was brought back. He played splendidly against the Leafs and the score of 6 to 1 was no fluke.

Another former Toronto player who figured in the debacle was Carl Voss, whom the Leafs rejected and allowed to go to Buffalo. Rangers bought him and, in turn sent him to Detroit. And then of course the Redwings also had John Ross Roach, another Toronto scapegoat, who was sent to Rangers in exchange for Chabot and cash, and who, when the Rangers tired of him, was sold to Detroit.

But probably the unkindest cut of all from a Toronto point of view was the fact that Art Duncan was making his first appearance on Toronto ice as a referee. Duncan, well-known through the west, formerly played with Toronto and even got the job as manager, only to be dropped when the team started badly last season.

HIALEAH RACE MEETING OPENS

Gold Step, With Johnny Gilbert Up, Captures Inaugural Handicap

Miami, Fla., Jan. 20.—Hialeah Park, most pretentious of America's race courses, opened its second annual meeting under legalized betting yesterday with Gold Step, a consistent performer from Mrs. S. H. Fairbanks's stable, outclassing twelve of the country's crack thoroughbreds in the inaugural handicap.

Stepping the six furlongs plenty fast under the guidance of Johnny Gilbert, leading jockey of 1932, the six-year-old gelding son of Sweep On, sped past the judges in two lengths in front of J. W. Y. Martin's Coh Amore to earn the purse of $2,380. Just ahead to the rear, closing fast, followed the Everglade stable's Dyak.

Gold Step returned his backers $21.70 for a $2 ticket.

Babe Ruth Willing To Take Small Cut

many of signing a formal contract in the mellow atmosphere of the colosseum's brewery.

A 10 per cent, or $7,500, "cut" would reduce the Babe's salary to $67,500. Another 5 per cent would bring it down to $64,500. If each of the principal goes half way, the figures would be $62,500, and the betting odds now favor that as the ultimate outcome.

WILL VISIT RUPPERT

Although Ruth denied it, the belief is general that he and Col. Ruppert already have a preliminary understanding. Before posing for cameras yesterday, Ruth told newspapermen he would "give the colonel a call soon and settle things."

The junior member of the home run twins, Lou Gehrig, proposed to settle his salary differences with Secretary Ed. Barrow, with his step-daughter, Julia, at McGovern's gymnasium. Ruth told newspapermen he would "give the colonel a call soon and settle things."

A holdout has yet to appear in the reorganized ranks of the Giants.

Veteran Slugger of New York Yankees Says He Will Accept Fifteen Per Cent Wage Reduction; Glenn Spencer Signs With New York Giants

New York, Jan. 20.—Babe Ruth sounded the first compromise note in his salary opera yesterday by suggesting his willingness to take a 10 per cent "cut" or "at the most" a 15 per cent slash off the $75,000 he collected for playing 132 games last year.

The Babe's statement was the first indication of a willingness to yield, manifested either by the veteran slugger of the New York Yankees, who sent an offer of $60,000 for the 1933 season.

Combined with a distinct change from his previous tone of belligerence on the subject, Ruth's latest comment was accepted by baseball observers as proof that he and his boss, Col. Jacob Ruppert, shortly will reach an agreement, summon the sound motion picture machines and conduct the ceremony.

Two basketball games will be played at the Colwood Hall to-morrow evening. In the opening fixture the Colwood girls will oppose Luxton, while in the second engagement the home men's B squad will clash with Luxton. Dancing will follow the games.

Eight Matches Scheduled To-morrow In Soccer League

Westies Will Meet Saanich Thistles In Feature Game

Clubs Clash at Heywood Avenue in Replay of Coast League Cup Series

ESQUIMALT AND CITY WILL MEET

Two Matches in Victoria and District League; Juniors in Cup Fixtures

Eight football matches will be played to-morrow afternoon, four in the Coast League, two in the Victoria and District League and two in the Junior League. The feature engagement of the day will see Saanich Thistles and Victoria West clash at the Heywood Avenue grounds in a replay of their preliminary round match in the Association Cup. The clubs fought to a 2 to 2 deadlock in their first meeting. The game will start at 2.15 o'clock with Dave Swan as referee.

The complete soccer card for to-morrow follows:

COAST LEAGUE

Association Cup

Victoria West vs. Saanich Thistles at Heywood Avenue. Referee, Swan.

LEAGUE

Esquimalt vs. Victoria City at Central Park. Referee, Saunders.

Second Division

Victoria City vs. Saanich Thistles at Spencer's Field. Referee, Alcock.

Esquimalt vs. Victoria West at upper Beacon Hill. Referee, Robb.

VICTORIA AND DISTRICT LEAGUE

Macraes-Wards vs. Duncan at Macraes-Wards. Referee, McKinnon.

Jokers vs. Outer Wharf Rangers at Hampton Road. Referee, McKay.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

Jokers vs. Duncan City at Reynolds Road. Referee, McKinnon.

Royal Oak vs. Esquimalt at Victoria West Park. Referee, Tooby.

All matches will start at 2.15 o'clock.

For their match against the Thistles to-morrow the Westies have strengthened their team by the addition of Wally Rowe, former goalie for Saanich United in the Wednesday League.

The new custodian is one of the best in the city, and should be a valuable addition to the greenishards.

The line-ups for to-morrow's games follow:

Jokers, seniors—Griffiths, Margison, Cann, Rogers, Spiller, Sarge, Murray, Davidson, Hillier, Viggers and Collier.

Esquimalt, second division—Restall, Soulesby, Thompson, Barnswell, Smith, Worwick, Macdonald, Cochran, Milne, McKinnon and Hay.

ENJOYS ANOTHER FINE SEASON

Handsome as handsome does and if current records count for anything, Ivan "Ching" Johnson, great defence player of the New York Rangers, should again be slated for all-star honors in the present National Hockey League season.

Last year Johnson was paired by the experts with Eddie Shore, Boston, on the mythical honor squad. This year the 200-pound rear guardman, who calls Winnipeg his native city, is again playing a whale of a game and should be right up in the van in the stardom ballots.

Port Bowlers To Show Form Here

Tenpin trundlers from Port Angeles will show their form here against the Jokers and Imperial Oil squads, leaders in the local league, at the Olympic Alley to-morrow evening. The first fixture will start at 7 o'clock. Singles and doubles will be rolled and a good crowd is expected to watch the teams in action. The Ports are entered in the bowling congress to be held here in April.

Notre Dame Play Using Fast Guard

With a speedy guard, and a husky centre like Krause to handle the ball in close-up territory, the following play goes through with a zip for George Keegan's Notre Dame team.

Left guard, 1, passes to left forward, 4, who comes in near the free-throw circle from the left sideline. No. 1 cuts outside, and around toward the basket, immediately after passing to 4.

As he passes 4, the latter fakes a return pass to him, but instead shoots the ball to centre, 3, who has advanced to the free throw line from the right corner. No. 3 now hands the ball to 1, who has dashed in for a close-up try for goal.

No. 4, 2 and 3 are placed for rebounds.

POOR PA

By CLAUDE CALLAN

Clyde, Dunfermline and Parlick Thistle, the other teams who reached the fourth round last year, will be watched with interest to-morrow.

Clyde should have little trouble with Fraserburgh, but Dunfermline face the stout Celtic outfit and are not given much chance of going as far as they did last season. Parlick also have stout opposition, meeting St. Bernards, a team who have been doing very well in the second division.

Hibernians, second division leaders, meet Forfar, Athletic, who are well down in the standing of the same division.

St. Louis Flyers Beat Kansas City

St. Louis, Jan. 20.—St. Louis Flyers defeated Kansas City Pla-mors, 2 to 1, yesterday evening in their first game of the second half of the American Association hockey season.

Only thirty seconds before the end of the contest, Molvhill, right wing, took a pass from Healey to shoot a goal and prevent the Pla-mors from being blanked.

Eighty Minutes Of Hockey And Not a Penalty Given

Cleanest Game in Record of Veteran Western Timer Was Port Arthur-Winnipeg Match a Year Ago; Winning and Losing With Fifteen Seconds to Go.

By A. R. MORRISON

Winnipeg.—Over a period of twenty years, I have been privileged to handle a watch on almost every branch of sport, where a time limit is set.

During these years, champions have come and gone, passing across the arena of sport a part of the life of the actors on the boards of a theatre.

While the timekeeper comes into contact with the fans the way a referee does, still he is very often subject to criticism, mainly due to misunderstanding as to how a game is timed. For instance, there are still many followers of hockey, lacrosse or rugby who do not know that only the actual playing time is taken into account.

An example of this is vividly recalled to mind in a hockey game between two railroad teams, where feeling ran high in a crowded rink. At the conclusion, the writer was met by two formidable delegations. One group insisted that the contest had lasted too long, the other that the final bell had been rung too soon. Needless to say, the former represented the winning side. As they were railroaders their watches were all synchronized to the second, so it took quite a little explaining to convince them that their time pieces were not meant for hockey games, and that a special type of watch was used.

PLAYERS TROUBLE SOME

The same thing applies to the individual player "moving a penalty, first of all he never knows why he is put off, and if there are many stops during the time he is in the "bustle" he naturally chafes under the restraint.

In the game that they forget all about the penalty, and have to be almost ejected from the "pen" when their time is up.

It is interesting that in all these years there has been only one hockey game without a penalty being given, as I recall. On February 1, 1932, Port Arthur was playing the Sons of Winnipeg and in spite of the fact that the game went into twenty minutes of overtime, there were no visitors in the "box." As a result of this unique situation, Holmes, the veteran rink owner, presented me with a "hat," this gesture having the same significance as a pair of white gloves to a judge or the hat of a coroner.

It must be remembered that the time of the game, which is a great deal of the game, very frequently hangs on at the end of a period or quarter; therefore, the crowd's second-hand game of the Elmwood-Regina series of 1931, for the Western Canada junior hockey finals, the most exciting and thrilling, it must be confessed, that the actual "moment" of the game was not witnessed.

The Pats won the first game 1 to 0. In the second game, neither side scored in the first two periods, Regina increased the margin 2 to 0 early in the third, and many looked for another "Ritchie" victory. Bill Mackenzie, however, scored on a hard drive which beat Campbell and with less than two minutes to go, George Brown took Duncan's pass and scored, tying up the round.

The first overtime period had hardly got going when Redding, who had been left unguarded, put Regina ahead. With the watch relentlessly ticking away the fateful seconds, it looked again as if it were all over. The Pat timer, with thirty seconds to go, remarked: "Only a miracle can stop us now," but apparently the days of miracles are over, for with only ten seconds remaining, Kit Massey did what seemed to be the impossible, lobbing a shot from behind centre ice that Ken never saw, and the series was again tied up. Meaning that the box saw the shot, near the puck go into the net, so intent were we on our watches, and it was only the mighty roar which nearly lifted the roof that told us what had happened.

WINNING GOAL

It is history now that Spunk, three minutes after the second overtime had started, scored what proved to be the winning goal, as the local boys stayed off a most desperate attack in the closing moments of play. By winning this game Elmwood went on to defeat Ottawa and bring the O.H.A. Memorial trophy to Winnipeg, helping to make history, as the Winnipeg beat Hamilton, and both major trophies were held in the western city that year.

A game full of intense moments, even though the score was not close, was the memorable win of the Falcons of Winnipeg over Toronto Varsity in the spring of 1920, a victory that sent the westerners on their way to annex the first Olympic and world's championship for Canada.

FREDRICKSON SCORES FOUR GOALS

I happened to be in Toronto at the time of the eastern finals, when the Granites played Sudbury, and the latter were pitted against the students, and my old friend Bill Hewitt asked me to time the games. The latter series was a ding-dong affair, the students winning the round, 6 to 5. They were then called on to play the Falcons; in the first game of the series, the Winnipeggers led by a margin of five goals, Fred-

STOCKS LOSE AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press
Montreal, Jan. 20.—Losses were in the majority as the stock exchange ended a fairly active session today. Canadian Pacific was down 1/2, International Nickel was down 1/2, and Consolidated Smelters at 58 closed unchanged. Power Corporation conceded a point at 70, while Montreal Power closed at 30 1/2. Shawinigan declined 1/2 to 11 1/2. Canadian Hydro-Electric preferred lost a point at 37.

Best Telephone moved up 1/2 to 97 1/2, while Winnipeg Electric added 1/2 to 3 1/2. Dominion Textile was comparatively active, moving up 3/4 to 50.

Canada Steamships preferred picked up a major fraction, while smaller gains were scored by McGill-Fontaine, St. Lawrence Paper preferred, Wabasso Cottons and Gypsum.

Bank of Montreal dipped 1/2 to 180, issues to close with losses of 1/2 point or less included Lake of the Woods, Howard Smith, Canadian Car preferred, Canada Cement, Hollinger and St. Lawrence Corporation.

COMMITTEES OF COUNCIL NAMED

F. V. Hobbs, J.P., Installed
New Saanich Council Yesterday Evening

Annual Loan From Bank
$200,000; Interest
6 Per Cent

The Saanich Council for 1933 was sworn in yesterday evening at the Municipal Hall, Royal Oak. Frank V. Hobbs, J.P., officiating. Reeve Crouch took office for a seventh term and Councillor G. S. Eden was the only newcomer, sitting as the representative of Ward Seven.

Mr. Hobbs wished the council success, commenting they would experience an opportunity to serve their fellow citizens in a period of unusual difficulty.

The vote of thanks to Mr. Hobbs was moved by Councillor Woods. Reeve Crouch congratulated the members of the council upon having won the confidence of the electors, remarking that five had been re-elected and Councillor Eden was a former member of the council.

COMMITTEES NAMED
The following committees were announced by the re-elected first-named being chairman in each instance:

Public works: Councillor L. C. Hagan, and the whole council.
Unemployment and relief: Councillors D. Hoare, G. S. Eden, F. Borden and W. F. Somers.

Health and morals: Councillors Borden, Eden and H. D. Cotton.
Finance: Councillors W. R. Woods, Somers, Hagan and Hoare.

Fire and Water: Councillors Somers, Borden, Hoare and Eden.
Parks: Councillors Eden, Hoare, Borden and Woods.

Reeve Crouch will be a member of all committees.

The Court of Revision of the assessment roll will be composed of all the council with Reeve Crouch in the chair. The first sitting will be held in the council chamber on Wednesday, February 8 at 10 o'clock.

The annual loan by-law, authorizing bank accommodation totalling $200,000, was given preliminary readings.

ENGLISH COAL NOT OPPOSED

Saanich Refuses Nanaimo Support in Protection Plea

"Such a sudden death," protested Councillor L. C. Hagan yesterday evening when the Saanich Council decided against officially supporting Nanaimo in a protest against importations of British coal. A resolution from the Nanaimo Council, which sought protection of local mines from competition, was ordered filed. An alternative proposal, to forward the resolution to the provincial government without comment, was found unacceptable to the Nanaimo Council.

Councillors said that Vancouver Island coal could be bought cheaper in Seattle than in Victoria, and that Nanaimo mine operators, by maintaining high prices, had themselves invited competition by foreign coal or oil. British coal was believed able to invade local markets because of dislocation of international finance which would only be a temporary condition. Councillor Hagan battled for a more kindly attitude toward the Nanaimo viewpoint, urging the necessity of fostering local industry. When asked how Saanich farmers would deal with importation of British strawberries, he replied, "We would very promptly cut prices."

EVIDENCE OVERCOMES LAWYER

Detroit, Jan. 20. (Associated Press)—A court hearing was adjourned here when the evidence exploded and a United States attorney retired to change his attire.

The evidence was a bottle of beer. The bottle stood on a table in emphasizing a point the attorney thumped the table "Pop" went the beer, and the attorney was struck with the full force of the evidence.
